WITHOUT INDIANA, ILLINOIS AND NEW YORK WILSON WON UPSETTING ALL PRECEDENT

BY PERRY ARNOLD
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Woodrow Wilson apparently has been elected president without the votes of the heretofore supposedly indispensible states of New York, Indiana and Illinois. He has seemingly won without aid from three democratic leaders whose domination in those states is popularly accredited them in the title of "boss." They are: Charles F. Murphy, of Tammany Hall; Tom Taggart of Indiana; Roger Sullivan of Illinois.

Only two other presidents have been elected without the vote of New York. One was Grant in 1868. The other was Rutherford B. Hayes, whose election over Samuel J. Tilden in 1876 is the closest parallel in American political history to the close race of 1916.

Politicians all over the country wil await with interest the administration's treatment of the New York City, Illinois state, and Indiana state democratic organizations.

The concensus of opinion was that there were lean years ahead for all three, so far as federal patronage and recognition by the administration is concerned. It is generally believed that on Tammany Hall will fall the hardest blow, since from dawn of election day the president's friends had a hunch that the Murphyites would knife Wilson. The tremendous city majority which Tammany promised Wilson failed dismally to materialize.

MYSTERY VESSEL REPORTED SUNK WITH LOSS OF 22 MEMBERS OF CREW

CALUMET, Mich., Nov. 10.—Mystery Friday afternoon clouded the identity of a big lake steamer reported to have gone down off Manitou Island, Lake Superior, early Friday, with a loss of twenty-two members of her crew. First reports that reached here said that the ship was the steamer Castilia of Fairport, O., but later information from Bete Cris, where the only survivor of the disaster were taken, suffering from shock and exposure, was to the effect that the stricken ship was the steamer Frontenac of Cleveland. This information, however, was discredited following receipt of a message from the Frontenac's owners that she had passed the Soo, downbound, two days ago.

RECOUNT INDICATES NEW HAMPSHIRE MAY GO FOR PRESIDENT

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 10.—Although official figures so far as determining the result continued to back the republican committee's claim that Hughes would win in New Hampshire, the re-checking of Tuesday's ballots early Friday showed a tendency to put New Hampshire in the Wilson column.

That New Hampshire is still held in the doubtful list and both state committees are steadfast in their claims of victory. The republicans claim the state by a plurality of 100 or a little more and the democrats forecast the final count will be at least eight-four in their favor.

Deputy Secretary Pillsbury, who is in charge of the checking of the ballots, declared early Friday that it will be noon before the final figures will be available.

INDEPENDENTS TO HAVE BALANCE OF POWER IN HOUSE

Socialist, Prohibitionist, Protectionist, Independent and Progressive Will Control Legislation

FIRST CONGRESSWOMAN

Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana to Be First Woman to Sit in National Legislature

OLD TIMERS RETURNED

Uncle Joe Cannon, Nick Longworth, Speaker Clark and Kitchin Re-elected to the House

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The balance of poyer in the next congress will actually rest with five representatives with independent affiliations so far as the democrats and republicans are concerned, on the face of returns available up to noon Friday.

The republicans made such gains in the election Tuesday that the democratic majority in congress is cut to the point where even the speakership might be affected. Present returns indicate the republicans will have two more representatives than the democrats. The success or failure of legislation that is proposed will therefore rest with the votes of a socialist, a prohibitionist with democratic leanings, a protectionist, an independent and a progressive.

In addition a woman will sit in congress for the first time in history. She is Miss Jeanette Rankin of Montana, who on latest returns is apparently elected.

Following is the next house line-up on returns gathered by the United Press up to noon:

Republicans, 216; Democrats, 214; Independents, 5.

The present house make-up is:

Democrats, 229; republicans, 197; progressives, 6; independent, 1; socialist, 1.

A majority in the house is 218. It takes that many votes, therefore, to elect a speaker or to enact legislation. Either big party, therefore, must get the good will of those five men who are aligned with smaller parties before it can do business in its own way. And, incidentally these five independents will be no more question marks than will the "first woman in the world" to be seated at Washington. Miss Rankin was chosen on a republican ticket, but democrats point out that "she's a woman, nevertheless."

The five men who, on present appearance, will be the balance of power or "the Balkans of the house," as it was termed here Friday, are:

W. P. Martin, protectionist, Louisiana.

Meyer London, socialist, New York.

Thomas V. Schall, progressive, Minnesota.

A. J. Fuller, independent, Massachusetts.

Randall has had a rather hybrid political career. He has been a republican, progressive, and a democrat. He ran on a prohibition ticket Tuesday with the democratic endorsement.

Martin is the first man not a democrat to be elected in Louisiana in twenty-five years. He is described as being basically a democrat, with a strong dash for protection.

Meyer London had a bitter fight and was re-elected by less than 200 votes. He has so far consistently kept away from any hint of favoritism toward either republicans or democrats.

Schall is an "unreconstructed rebel" as the dyed-in-the-wool, refuse-to-die progressive call themselves. He can be counted on to favor only the party that puts up what he thinks is the most progressive legislation and the best man for speaker.

Uncle Joe Cannon, the Danville, Ill., sage of the long cigars, good stories, parlor and otherwise, will be on hand as usual. Republican Leader Mann vanquished his democratic opponent. Nick Longworth of Ohio, son-in-law of Colonel Roosevelt, triumphed. Speaker Clark and Claude Kitchin have been returned. The bobbing Adam's apple of "Cyclone" Davis of Texas will not return. Davis was eliminated in the primaries. Clyde Tavenner of Illinois, connected with Henry Ford in the campaign against military preparedness, is behind in his district.

HUGHES MINNESOTA LEAD CUT DOWN IN BORDER COUNTIES

Ten Missing Precincts Give Wilson 1,018 and Hughes 447, Making Hughes' Lead Only 799

SOLDIER VOTE FOR WILSON

Fifty-five Guards of Ramsey County Vote for Wilson to Twenty-one for the Republican Candidate

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 10.—With all but fifty-nine Minnesota precincts in, at noon, Hughes was leading by 799. Ten of the twenty missing precincts from Koochiching county on the Canadian border gave Wilson 1018 and Hughes 447, reducing the Hughes lead to this figure.

Republican Chairman Thornton says Hughes will finish at least 1,000 to the good and that, though nobody knows what the soldier vote is, there is no danger that Hughes will fall below 500 plurality. Democratic Chairman Wheaton is just as certain in his claim that the finish will show Wilson ahead at least 700.

Of the fifty-nine precincts still out, thirty-two are in counties which thus far in the voting have favored Wilson, eight are in Hughes counties and nineteen are in counties which are practically tied.

All eyes are now on the soldier vote and the absentee vote.

Under the Minnesota law qualified electors may vote by mail. The auditor of this (Ramsey) county found seventy-seven such ballots in the mail Friday morning. They were: Wilson, 55; Hughes, 21, and Benson, one. The county auditor at Winona received four. Three for Wilson and one for Hughes. Just how big the absent vote is, is not known, but with the state as close as it is the politicians suddenly woke up to the fact that still another factor had been injected into their problem by the absent vote. This vote is composed of traveling men and railroad men. It will probably amount to 300 to 350 votes.

The commission bringing the soldiers' votes from the Texas border is due to arrive Saturday morning. Democrats point to the statement of Colonel Luce, commanding the Minnesota soldiers at the border, that 1,200 soldiers voted for Wilson, while 600 voted for Hughes. This they claim, will give Minnesota to Wilson.

The commission will deliver their packages of ballots to Secretary of State Schmahl, who says he will send them by special delivery mail to the auditors of the various counties.

Many of these will be received and counted Saturday and nearly all of them by Monday.

Meantime both sides are preparing for a canvas, recount and contest and lawyers and political strategists are deep in conference.

"SCAB" BANQUET DAMAGES

Meal in Restaurant Where the Waiters' Strike Was in Progress Cut Deep Into the Labor Vote

BY PERRY ARNOLD
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Of scarcely less interest among politicians Friday than discussion of Hughes' apparent defeat even though carrying New York, Indiana and Illinois, was what happened in California. It was agreed that Hughes must have suffered a tremendous cutting there, since Governor Hiram Johnson, senatorial nominee on the same ticket, and idol of the progressives, ran nearly 300,000 ahead of him. Apparently the progressives threw most of their strength to Wilson.

All of which recalled to republicans the direful predictions which were made at the time of Governor Hughes' campaign tour of California, due to "kidnapping" of the nominee by a republican faction which sought to "freeze out" the progressives.

Story First-Hand

Now that the election is over, a summarizing of the principal features of Governor Hughes' tour of California by the writer, who accompanied him on the trip, may serve to throw light on California's vote.

In the first place, they play politics very seriously in California. Up until summer there was bitter warfare between the "regular" republicans of the old school and the progressives, mostly recruited from the republican fold, but who revolted against the type of rule which they claimed the G. O. P. of the state sought to enforce. Then came the peace of Chicago and Governor Hiram Johnson, progressive of progressives, four years ago Roosevelt's running mate, returned to republicanism with most of his followers. Johnson announced for the senatorship and started active campaigning for Hughes and himself.

Conservative Kidnap Him

The first Californian whom Hughes met on his tour of the Pacific coast was Chester H. Rowell, a member of the republican campaign committee, former ardent progressive and former bitter enemy of the "regulars." Rowell made a special trip to Oregon to meet Hughes and warn him that the "regulars" headed by National Committeeman William H. Crocker and Former State Chairman Francis V. Keesling, planned to adopt the candidate and guard him from all contact with former enemies, the progressives. Rowell told Hughes Crocker was the same man who last December, at the meeting of the republican committee, pleaded against compromise with the progressives and begged for "one more chance to get Johnson." But Hughes adhered to his policy of keeping hands off rows. The committee which met his train was composed exclusively of "regulars" with a few picked progressives—progressives whom the real progressives refused to recognize as of their kin.

Still the "Snub"

In San Francisco it developed that no arrangements had been made by the Crocker-Keesling committee for Hughes to meet Johnson. Progressives said they had been told they were "not wanted" at the mass meeting which Hughes addressed.

"Scab" Dinner Hurt

To add to the mixup Hughes was invited to a luncheon of the chamber of commerce but before the time set all the waiters joined a strike then on throughout the city. Union labor was greatly annoyed when Hughes attended this luncheon and was served by "scabs" help. The arrangements committee kept him in ignorance of the strike and how union labor in the city would regard his

ELECTORAL VOTES

Wilson	269
Hughes	243
Doubtful	19

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—America has chosen Woodrow Wilson president and Thomas R. Marshall, vice-president for four years more, on the face of returns available early today. There was only the barest possibilities the recounts and possible court contests predicted by unyielding republicans would change the situation. California's entire vote had not been counted up to eight o'clock today, but Wilson's lead was so commanding that it appeared that no matter what the result in the few remaining precincts he would have a clear plurality over Hughes. There remained, however, the possibility of a division of the state's electoral vote of thirteen.

With only twenty precincts still to be heard from, Wilson is leading Hughes by 4,144 votes, according to a tabulation made by the United Press.

In 5,846 out of a total of 5,866 precincts Wilson's total was 465,325 against 461,181 for Mr. Hughes.

The apparent reduction in the total vote of each candidate was the result of a series of revisions and changes in Sierra and Shasta counties.

To win Mr. Hughes must make an average gain of 205 votes per precinct in the remaining twenty-three precincts, an almost impossible event.

These figures include official totals on 1209 precincts in Los Angeles county and five others unofficially tabulated in that county.

These are complete returns from 5,838 out of 5,866 precincts. The reduction from midnight figures in the total vote for Wilson was caused by a correction made by County Clerk Kay of Humboldt county, which showed Wilson had previously been erroneously credited with 1,030 votes. In sending returns to the United Press from seventy-six precincts, Kay gave these figures: Hughes, 5,670; Wilson, 5,014. He declared this morning that Wilson's total should have been 4,014. Two additional precincts in Humboldt county brought Wilson's total to 4,049 and Hughes to 5,732. An additional precinct from San Bernadino county gave Wilson 415 and Hughes 152.

The revision of the Humbold county vote will not change the general result in California.

Counting California's entire vote for Wilson, his total in the electoral college—disregarding states in which there still remains a doubt as to the outcome—appeared today to reach 239—three more than necessary. Hughes appeared to have gained 243 votes. Three states were still in doubt—Minnesota, New Mexico and New Hampshire—but their total electoral vote of 19 would not be sufficient to elect Hughes unless the republican nominee gained more than four of California's votes on a split in that state. Moreover, the vote from approximately one-half the state of New Mexico gave Wilson a lead of more than 1,500.

Republican headquarters still held out today without conceding Wilson's election. National Chairman Willcox announced determination to press for a recount in four of the doubtful states—California, New Hampshire, New Mexico and North Dakota. Minnesota may be added later to this list.

It was Willcox's contention that the American people were entitled to know beyond question as to their choice of the national executive and that they would not desire to have a man in the White House on whose title there was the slightest cloud.

THE ELECTORAL COLLGE AS IT INDICATED EARLY TODAY

Wilson: Alabama, 12; Arizona, 3; Arkansas, 9; California, 13; Colorado, 6; Florida, 6; Georgia, 14; Idaho, 4; Kansas, 10; Kentucky, 13; Louisiana, 10; Maryland, 8; Mississippi, 10; Missouri, 18; Montana, 4; Nebraska, 8; Nevada, 3; North Carolina, 12; North Dakota, 5; Ohio, 24; Oklahoma, 10; South Carolina, 9; Tennessee, 12; Texas, 20; Utah, 4; Virginia, 12; Washington, 7; Wyoming, 3. Total—269. ... ...

Hughes: Connecticut, 7; Delaware, 3; Illinois, 29; Indiana, 15; Iowa, 13; Maine, 6; Massachusetts, 18; Michigan, 15; New Jersey, 14; New York, 45; Oregon, 5; Pennsylvania, 38; Rhode Island, 5; South Dakota, 5; Vermont, 4; West Virginia, 8; Wisconsin, 13. Total—243.

Doubtful: Minnesota, 12; New Mexico, 3; New Hampshire, 4. Total—19.

Under the state law, the thirteen candidates for electors who receive the highest vote to the electoral college, regardless of whether all thirteen are of the same political faith. It is asserted by republicans that there is a possibility that the highest republican elector in many counties has received a slightly larger vote than the lowest elector. They point out that, in Marin county there is a difference of only thirty-three votes below the democrat and the high republican.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

A GIRL OF TODAY

BY SUSAN E. CLAGETT

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"It is a sordid story. The girl is the redeeming feature and how she happens to be what she is, is beyond my understanding. She is the happiest creature I have ever known and has a way with her that wins everyone."

"The mother!"

"The mother! She left Jack shortly after the child was born. Jack had been slowly going to pieces even during that first year. You remember he married her within a month of their introduction; just a plain case of letting himself go from the moment he met her. But for the matter of that we were all fascinated. Radcliffe was the only one who had sense enough not to singe his wings.

"None of us realized how seriously Jack was taking it until his quarrel with Rad. It seems Rad had heard something and went to the trouble to investigate the story. He never told me, but in the light of subsequent events I made a pretty shrewd guess. Jack, of course, did not believe him and their quarrel was a bitter one.

"I saw her in Cairo one winter. She was known there as Howland's wife. I received several notes asking me to call, but I had too recently helped to bury the boy, a boy who had every attribute that goes toward the making of a man, except the nerve, the courage to withstand disgrace. For ten years his life was a sore trouble to the few friends he clung to.

"He was devoted to the child and we hoped through her he would accomplish his salvation. Perhaps he would have won out, but his system was too weakened for him to rally from the attack of pneumonia. Rad took the girl home with him and formally adopted her, but what passed for Quixotism eight years ago is now giving rise to talk. He is still too young a man to have an 18-year-old girl in his home with no other woman than his housekeeper as chaperon. At least so says gossip. I would like to strangle the woman who started the ball rolling." Chandler took his pipe from his pocket and viciously packed tobacco into the bowl. As he did so he caught sight of a car moving slowly down the avenue.

"There they go now," he said.

The other man leaned forward in time to catch a glimpse of a smiling, upturned face.

"Why don't he marry her?" he asked. "That would solve the difficulty."

"He's 40, she's 18. May and December, don't you think?"

"According to old fashioned ideas, yes; but the girl of today is much older than the same girl of thirty years ago. She is more independent, more companionable; takes interest generally in things never mentioned in the time of her grandmother. She would be a fortunate girl if he married her."

"I doubt if he would ask her," Chandler answered, as he moved away.

The car that had attracted the two friends moved slowly until it reached the open country. When it turned into the state road the girl gave a little sigh of delight as a whiff of honeysuckle reached her from the roadside, but the face of the man was troubled. When he spoke there was a jarring note in his voice she had never heard before.

There was a frown on her face as she looked at him thoughtfully and she spoke quickly, interrupting him.

"You have heard it, the talk, I mean? Why do you mind? I don't."

"You are too young to understand all that it means, Mary. I hoped the gossip would miss you."

"There is always some good friend to tell you unpleasant things. At first I was in a fine temper, but after considering it seriously I came to the conclusion it was not worth a second thought."

"There you make a grave mistake. I have been wondering what it is best to do. You might go to Europe with Mrs. Merrick, or to Canada for the summer. By the winter some plan can be evolved for your comfort and pleasure or—you might marry."

"How silly you are, Mr. Rad. Just disabuse your mind of that thought. I will go to neither place without you. As for the other plan, it sounds alluring. Whom am I to lead like a lamb to the altar?"

"Do you need ask? I received a manly letter from Wycoff this morning. He is very much in earnest. Last week, Harding and Addison called upon the same errand."

"What did you say to them?" she asked curiously.

"Referred them to you. Haven't you seen them?"

"Yes."

"Well?"

"I told them I would be a sister to them," she replied demurely.

"Mary, have you no heart?"

"Oh, yes, my heart is all right, only it doesn't happen to belong to any one of the three."

The car swerved suddenly, then came to a standstill. Radcliffe Warren turned a grave face to the girl beside him.

"I thought I knew all the men interested in you. Evidently I am mistaken. Will you tell me something about him and where you met him?"

Mary Williams paused some minutes before answering, then she asked irrelevantly:

"Mr. Rad, what do you think of girls and women who do unusual things?"

"That depends," he began lamely.

"Of course. But to particularize. For a woman to ask a man to marry her."

"That is an odd question, Mary."

"I am thinking of doing it."

"Why?"

"Because I care for him. I do not know that he has ever given me a thought in that way. Other men have found me attractive, so why shouldn't he. If he won't discover it for himself is it wrong for me to suggest that I can make him happy?" and she turned her flushing face toward the man beside her.

"Not wrong," he answered, looking into the shining eyes that told a story of their own. "But I think, dear, the man will say the words for himself. That he has not done so is because he felt himself too old, but if you care! Ah! Mary, if you really care!"

"Care! Why, Mr. Rad, anyone but you would have known it long ago."

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomain-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous days' accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, billiousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

LEVEE CONTRACT LET

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 10.—Announcement of the awarding of the largest levee contract let this year or for several years past has just been made. The contract calls for 3,000,000 cubic yards of enlargement and new work and covers practically the entire Yazoo and Mississippi delta levee district. The total expenditure under the contract will run close to $1,000,000. The agreement stipulates that the work is to be finished within three years and also covers any emergency work to be done at once during that time. Already the levees in this district are in good shape and have stood up under severe conditions in the past. It is the intention of the officer in charge to make them as near impregnable as levees can be made.

ENGINE SPARK SETS FIRE

FREDERICK, S. D., Nov. 10.—A spark from the engine of a freight train set fire to dead grass near here and destroyed several haystacks and some farm buildings.

Theater Fires.

The first of the many terrible theater fires which have caused the death of such a multitude of amusement seekers occurred 303 years ago, when Shakespeare's Globe theater in London was completely consumed by the flames. The house was crowded to its capacity to witness the play of "Henry VIII," but there was no panic and the audience escaped unhurt. In the early part of the last century three London playhouses—the Surrey, the Covent Garden and the Drury Lane—were destroyed by fire, and in 1811 the first of the disastrous theater fires of America occurred in Richmond, when 70 persons, including Governor Smith, perished in the flames. The Iroquois theater fire in Chicago was the most terrible of this character, 578 persons, mostly women and children, having been burned or trampled to death in that horrible 1903 disaster.—New York World.

Tunesmiths.

A musician who desires to compose a tune that shall become popular must contrive to produce something apparently original, and yet not so original as to demand study; it must also contain echoes of other tunes previously popular, and yet they must be so indefinite that no one can tell for certain where they come from, which is what we mean when we say it is a wise tune that knows its own father.

COMMISSION FIRM NOT DOING BEST IN BUENOS AYERS

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct. 20.—(By Mail.)—A proposition is before the Argentine congress to change the Buenos Aires form of government.

Hitherto the city has had a commission government like Washington. The people are tired, however, of having their affairs regulated for them by outsiders. They point out that this management has resulted in piling up one of the largest municipal debts, considering the community's size, in the world. It is also remarked that the attempt to economize, by the unauthorized withholding of percentage of the city employes wages, is resultin in a tiresome series of strikes by the scavengers, grave diggers and other classes of city workers.

The situation is also more irritating from a numerical standpoint than the one in Washington, where a national population of about 100,000,000 dictates arbitrarily to a city of about 350,000, while in Argentina, a total population of approximately 7,000,000 makes local regulations for a capital with a population exceeding 1,500,000.

The new plan, if adopted, will abolish the existing commission in favor of a municipal council, to be elected by the citizens.

A unique feature of the proposal is that it confers the municipal franchise upon foreigners more than 18 years old who have lived in Buenos Aires more than two years if they are married to Argentine women, are parents of Argentine children or pay taxes to a specified amount. The plan even makes them eligible to councillorships above the age of twenty-five.

Furthermore, following the example of the national election law, the idea is to make the exercise of the franchise obligatory.

There is considerable criticism of this clause, disregard of the national compulsory voting law, which provides a penalty of ten pesos or a term of imprisonment upon eligibles who neglect to cast their ballots, having proved so general that the jails would not have held the offenders if they had been prosecuted.

A BATH TUB TRUNK

A frugal couple in Montana have evolved a combination bath tub and trunk which combines novelty and utility. The trunk is made of sheet metal enameled inside and out, so that it can be used either as a laundry or bath tub. An outlet is provided in the bottom by means of which the water may be drawn off through an adjustable hose. It is provided with a lid and locks and fasteners strong enough to defy the ordinary baggage smasher. The article represents a cost less than $15, which is less than the price of an ordinry trunk of that size, to say nothing of the rest of the usual portable bath tub.

TEXAS BRIGADE NEWSPAPER

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 10.—The Reveille, a new daily paper, published in the interest of the Texas brigade at Camp Scurry, has made its initial appearance. It is a small folio replete with gossip of the brigade camp, and carrying business announcements of Corpus Christi merchants.

PROFESSORS OF ECONOMY MEET

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Professors of economy from many of the universities of the middle west met at the University of Chicago Friday to trade ideas. They listened to addresses on the relation of engineering, business and law to economics.

THE CAMPAIGN ANALYZED

Early in the presidential campaign the TRIBUNE declared that the European war was not an issue and could not be made one, that Mexico was hardly more available as political fodder, and that the republican declaration for administrative economy and efficiency presented the soundest and best campaign doctrine. It was our position that the people are disgusted with "pork", that the weakest spot in the democratic armor was looseness and waste in appropriations, that the republican "budget" offered a possibility of relief, and that the issue best fitted the experience, mind-quality and personality of Charles Evans Hughes.

However, the republican managers went to the public with heroics and sentimentality based on the war and Mexico, and committed the counter-indicated follies of prophesying "hard times" to people who could not get their hands into their pockets on account of the money in them, and of attacking "high cost of living" in the presence of farmers who pocket a good percentage of the "high cost".

Today we read with interest the following editorial in the current number of "The Saturday Evening Post", a magazine of strong republican tendencies:

It was a painfully flat campaign. Everybody says so. The republican attack created about as much excitement as the spectacle of a man cutting a hickory log with a dull saw. This impression of it is so much a matter of common report that no partisan bias can be implied in saying it. Why a man of Mr. Hughes' known ability and experience showed so little edge as a candidate has been the subject of many learned explanations by those who sympathized with him and those who did not.

Now there are many subjects in which the public is interested; and one obvious fact is that the republican management woefully misread the public mind. They thought it was truculently heroic, and writhing under a sense of national disgrace, when, in fact, it was merely sensible.

It saw the United States, after more than two years of world war, at peace and on as good terms with the world as could possibly be expected. In respect of the most trying issue the war had brought us, this country had imposed its conditions upon Germany, after couching them in language such as one nation seldom uses to another. Submarines were operating as we said they must. In view of that fundamental fact, whether or not we might safely have pulled a few more tail feathers out of the German eagle seemed unimportant. We were submitting to some indignities from the Allies, but a rather wide sympathy with their cause, our patent powerlessness to coerce them on the sea, and the torrent of money they were pouring into our lap left us the alternative of patient negotiation or committing a sort of moral and material hari-kari. With regard to Europe, in short, the situation was as satisfactory as could reasonably be hoped for.

The country understood that and accepted it. Impassioned oratory about a futile protest against the invasion of Belgium, an impossible prevention of the Lusitania crime, and generally imposing our own conditions upon fighting Europe—without at all fighting ourselves—simply bored the public. The campaign has shown that this country's course in respect of warring Europe has been, in a broad way, the course which the common sense of the country approves, in view of all the circumstances of the case. Whoever wins at the polls—for the votes are not cast at this writing—will probably keep that lesson in mind.

If the republican campaign had addressed itself to domestic affairs—such, for example, as the pork barrel—and brought forward a number of constructive ideas, it would undoubtedly have found more enthusiastic response.

This analysis of the campaign is all the more impressive because of its detachment, and excepting only the matter of "Americanism", interprets the feelings of average people without strong party bias or "axes to grind", with considerable accuracy. Had the election been held the day following the last national convention, it is almost certain Hughes would have been elected. The abusiveness of Roosevelt and Mr. Hughes' failure to offer constructive plans, coupled with his lack of frankness upon some questions, contributed to the republican disaster. However, a popular and comprehensive way of epitomizing all of this complex reasoning is to say that "had Hughes stayed home and kept still he would have been elected".

"AMERICANISM" VINDICATED

Yesterday we quoted from editorials unguardedly published by the English press in prematurely congratulating Mr. Hughes upon his election, in which it was said with elation that Colonel Roosevelt, who had "stood boldly for the allies", would have an important post, and it was intimated that Hughes bullets would take the place of Wilson notes.

Under similar misapprehension as to the election of Mr. Hughes, the German "Vorwaerts" said:

> The election has proved that no other American statesman will ever dare alienate the hyphen vote.

Thus Germany serves notice upon free America that our elections must submit to the dictation of German interests, and that the American candidate who dares defy German authority is doomed to defeat.

The insolent challenge was answered before it was made. Wilson, who "alienated the hyphen vote", was elected by republican states to carry which he had no reason to expect. Hughes, who played for the "hyphen vote", was defeated by republican states that should automatically have been his.

However, we have pleasing evidence that a majority of Americans of German extraction were true to their country. In Milwaukee and in La Crosse county, two great German-American centers in Wisconsin, Wilson won handsomely. The number of votes that went to Hughes on behalf of Germany probably was incomparably smaller than the number that went to Wilson to register resentment of the appeal to foreign sentiment.

One quite naturally reverses the reasoning of "Vorwaerts". The answer is that in future no American statesman will dare to pander to or even wink at political support organized in the name of a foreign country.

COMMISSIONERS ENTERTAIN

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 10.—The Mexican members of the American and Mexican joint commission came to Philadelphia Friday to be guests at a special meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science. Several of the Mexican commissioners addressed the meeting on the purposes and ideals of the Mexican revolution. The American members of the commission also attended, and Secretary Franklin K. Lane, chairman of the American section, presided.

NEW JERSEY MOTHERS' MEET

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Nov. 10.—Under the auspices of the Montclair women's organizations, the annual meeting of the New Jersey Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' association assembled here Friday for a two-day session. "The Forces Contributing to the Spiritual Development of the Child" has been selected as the general topic for the convention. The factors to be considered are the home, school, church and community.

Out of the Mouths of Kids

Jimmie giggled when the teacher read the story of the man who swam across the Tiber three times before breakfast.

"You don't doubt that a trained swimmer could do that, do you?"

"No, sir," answered Jimmie, "but I wonder why he did not make it four and get back to the side where his clothes were."—Awgwan.

The Average Young Man Says

It is pathetic. You see nice young girls with pretty, fluffy clothes, delicious giggles, the most girlish manners—everything but the right sort of face.

The Nuisance

He felt his position keenly. Restlessly he moved off one leg on to the other, and looked up with the simple faith of a little child unto her who sold stamps in the postoffice, knowing full well that he would be attended to when the fair maiden ended the conversation with the other assistant.

At last the long looked for word fell from her lips!

"Well?"

"A penny stamp, please," said the meek and mild stranger.

"We don't sell stamps here; this is the inquiry counter," replied the maid, indignant at an interruption without a sale.

"If this is the inquiry counter, may I ask you where I may purchase a stamp?" persisted the meek looking man.

"Counter directly opposite," she hissed.

When the purchase had been completed, the meek and mild stranger bent his steps back again even unto the inquiry counter.

"If this is the inquiry counter, may I be allowed to ask a question?"

"Well."

"If I post this letter tonight, will it arrive in Glascow first post tomorrow?"

"Yes."

"Well, my dear lady, you are wrong, for the letter is addressed to Edinburgh;" and he went on his way.

When a Joke's a Joke

Irvin Cobb, the war correspondent home from Europe long enough recently to get his breath and look over the new book, attended an authors' banquet in New York.

A deaf man sat next to Cobb. Farther down the table another man told a funny story, and when he finished, the deaf man laughed and applauded louder and longer than any of the rest.

"Good, old boy!" shouted the deaf man. "That reminds me of a story," he added to those near by.

"Get up and tell it, Charlie," cried several. The toastmaster sanctioned the suggestions.

Then the deaf man got up and told the same story the other man had just told.

THE TRIBUNE'S DAILY TRAVELETTE

(By Nikoah)

PRIZREND

One wonders how Prizrend is getting along today. A quiet mountain city, it lay in the path of the first great Serbian retreat before the German drive. For a few days it figured as a date-line in the war dispatches. The current of Serbian and allied troops swept down through it by tens and hundreds of thousands. Refugees filled it. The tide of war flooded it. Then the wave passed, and Prizrend sank from view.

It lies at the foot of a steep mountainside, half in the valley and half straggling up the slope of the hill. Over it frowns a gray fortress, where the Serbs kept thousands of prisoners two years ago. Down through the center of it flows a restless, incessantly complaining mountain river, cooped between man-made quays in the heart of the town, trammeled only by grassy banks in the suburbs. The Turks have the best of their comfortable dwellings along the river banks; they are an important and prosperous part of the population, for this was formerly a city of European Turkey.

They are a mixed crowd who pass up and down the steep crooked streets of Prizrend, even in peace times. The Turk is there in his white turban, aloof and superior. Tall, well-built Montenegrins from the mountains walk with a certain shyness and suspicion. Albanians with their peculiar grace and half-Oriental half-European manner. The Serbs themselves are picturesque figures enough, especially the peasant in his national costume. The dresses of all these flame with a dozen vivid colors, standing out against the soft green of the thick grapevines which are draped even from house to house on many of the streets.

The river is the heart of the city. Over the very old stone bridge that spans it in a single arch, sooner or later every citizen will pass. If you are looking for someone, the easiest way to find him is to sit you down by the bridge and wait until it pleases Allah to send him to you. And while you wait you will have a chance to see all the varied life of a little-known meeting place of Europe and Asia.

CHAPTER XIX
Who Is the Heir

"Poor old lady," sighed Van Tuyl, the first to break the silence that had settled upon the room after the departure of Miss Varney and Henry Appleby, who as the oldest male relative had taken charge of affairs by the common consent of all save Maude who wanted to know why, simply because he was a man, he should take charge. No one cared to argue the point and the subject was dropped.

They murmured conventional condolence to one another, but no one mentioned what was uppermost in the minds of all. Had dear Aunt Appleby died intestate, or was Henry right when he said that she had disposed of her forty millions that afternoon? Forty millions! Who was to inherit it? This thought, haunting, glorious, ghastly in its magnificent possibilities, was not to be denied or crushed out. She had never had more to do with any of them than courtesy and relationship required. None had seen her for years and some of the younger ones not at all until that memorable visit. To pretend that her death was a personal loss to any of them would have been inexcusable hypocrisy. To be indifferent in one's thoughts as to the ultimate disposal of the forty millions which each of them stood a good chance to fall heir to, was impossible. But no one mentioned the will. All murmured gentle things to one another about the dead and all hoped and yet feared, planned and tried not to plan, about that forty millions.

Van Tuyl voiced the fear that was in all their hearts. "I am afraid," said he, "that Aunt Appleby did not understand us."

"And it's too late now," sighed Stephen.

"Poor old lady," they all chorused, hastily.

"She was so terribly upset at the thought of being arrested," said Mrs. Bingham. "I feel in a way that that shock was my fault."

"No, no," the others protested kindly.

"I did my best not to allow any strange man to enter the grounds," agreed Mrs. Bingham, consenting to be comforted. "I am so afraid their father will take the children from me—"

"That comes—" began Maude.

"Maude," begged Van Tuyl, with feeling, raising his hand, "let us remember that death has entered this house, and let us have peace."

Everybody broke into talk at once on a variety of subjects "to head off" Maude.

"The funeral will probably be day after tomorrow," said Harkness.

"And the will read directly afterward," said Stephen, speaking his mind without regard to what he said in his haste to change the subject. There was a sudden silence. The will!

"There may be no will," murmured Van Tuyl. "Poor old lady!"

"In that case, we all share," said Stephen, and added, delicately, as Van Tuyl did, "poor old lady!"

"Of course, we will all stay for the funeral," said Van Tuyl.

"Of course," agreed the others.

Nelly slipped her arm through Maude's and drew her aside as all left the room: "Maude," said she, "would you like to go with me and listen to some speeches?"

"Where?" asked Maude.

Nelly explained. "On the corner of Main Street. The Union of 'Amalgamated Button Mold Operators' is going to make speeches about the strike that is coming and they want to get the Associated Brotherhood of Button Stampers to go out with them."

Maude looked at her slim young cousin in surprise. "Indeed, Nelly," she declared, "I would love to go. Tommy can take us in the car—but I didn't know that you went in for this sort of thing."

"Oh, yes," said Nelly, and blushed a beautiful pink. "I have become interested in the—the Working Man."

"I am glad of that," said Maude. "It is a shame when you think what those people have to endure. Positively, I know it for a fact, some of them don't get more than fifteen dollars a week."

"Oh, yes," said Nelly. "It is—terrible," and she thought of the contentment and peace that pervaded the Rubensteins' home and knew that she was in her heart a traitor to Reuben's cause, the holy Cause of Labor, and knowing which, was only the more tender to Reuben.

Ricky refused all invitations to join the party, and after tucking Nelly in the car, stood a moment on the steps watching it disappear down the drive. Then as he turned with a sigh to re-enter the house he saw Miss Varney coming down the wide, dimly lighted hall toward him. She was very white and frankly, adorably, tired, but she smiled as she saw him and came eagerly forward.

"I was looking for you," she said, laying her hand on his arm. "Can't we go somewhere—I must—I feel that it would be no breach of faith, would do no harm, to tell you—something."

"Only tell me that you love me," cried Ricky, forgetting everything, as he laid his hand passionately on the one that rested on his arm, and looked down into her beautiful eyes.

She drew back, confused, lovely. "Ah, no," she cried. "Nelly—"

"I know, dear," he persisted, still clinging to her hand and taking a step after her as she retreated. "But nowadays, it's no dishonor to love another woman than your wife. Divorces are easy. Nelly is a sweet little thing, but you are my queen, my ideal—"

"Hush, hush," protested the girl, her eyes filling with tears. "Please, not tonight."

"I'm a brute," cried Ricky, kissing her hand gently, reverently. "I ought to be kicked, bothering you when you are so tired."

"I am tired," she admitted, "but I wanted to tell you—" She paused.

"Don't tell me tonight," said Ricky softly. "You are too tired. Go to bed and tell me in the morning."

"No," she insisted, "I must tell you now. I am sure it will do no harm, won't be a breach of faith—"

"Nothing you do could be that," swore Ricky.

She smiled, shaking her head, and sitting down on the stairs to which they had slowly retreated, made room for him on the step beside her. "Miss Appleby did not ask me not to mention it and it seems a shame not to—er—put you all out of your—er—"

"Agony," suggested Ricky cheerfully, who being only an in-law had never had any hope of a share in the forty millions and could discuss its disposal in impersonal goodnature.

"Suspense," corrected Miss Varney. "Miss Appleby made her will this afternoon." Again she paused and looked at him to see what effect the announcement would have on him.

But Ricky was unimpressed. He nodded. "Appleby said he thought she had."

"Yes, she made it and I heard whom she made the—heir."

"Jove," said Ricky. "Forty millions is some pile! Who's the lucky rascal? Not me?" with just a faint, far-off, absurd hope that the impossible might have happened.

Miss Varney shook her head. "I should have said that I do not know just exactly who the heir is, but I know that it is—none of the family." She spoke softly, as one does when breaking bad news.

Ricky's laugh at his own foolish hope reassured her and he went on. "She had an argument with the lawyer. He wanted her to leave it in the family. She said the family would be disgraced to inherit it. It was tainted money. She was a convict."

"Poor old lady, by jove, that's pitiful!"

Miss Varney nodded again, her eyes filling with tears. "It was pitiful, she was so mortified, so ashamed. Poor old lady!"

"I suppose she left it to charity," suggested Ricky.

"No. She said no charity would accept it when it was known she died practically in prison. She thought she was going there, you know."

"Jove," said Ricky, "she didn't know charity any better than she knew us. Did she throw it away?"

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

By DAISY DEAN

A fast moving story of romance and advanture laid in picturesque South Sea Islands, has been put to work by Director Otis Turner for William Fox. George Walsh, star of "The Beast," has the leading role. Playing opposite him will be Laura Dean, who has just signed as a William Fox actress. Miss Dean was in vaudeville and stock for four years and came to the silent drama in 1912. Anna Luther is cast for a part in the picture. Others in the cast are Herschel Mayall, William Burress, William Clifford, Samuel Searles, Willard Louis and Hector Sarno.

William Russell Realizes Ambition

William Russell, the Mutual's handsome star, has a red blanket which was given to him by an old Indian chieftain many years ago when he visited a reservation. He has always cherished it and hoped for a day when he could wear it in a real Indian role. His ambition has been realized. He is now at work in one of the strongest dramas in which he has ever played, "Lone Star," a story of a young Indian who becomes a physician. The contrast between the white man's much vaunted civilization and the Indian's splendid integrity adds intense value to the drama. It promises to be William Russell's best.

Cleo Madison to Head Own Company

Although all the details are not finally settled, it is now pretty certain that Cleo Madison will head her own company and be financially interested in it. Miss Madison has for some years been one of the most popular stars with the Universal company.

Interested with her are Isidore Bernstein, who was one time western manager of the big "U," and F. N. Archibald, a retired merchant of Boston.

Miss Madison states that Mr. Bernstein will come to Los Angeles when the financing of the proposition has been completed, and with his arrival final plans for production will be completed and announced.

Ora Carew.

Irene Howley, who is co-starred with William Nigh in "Life's Shadows," a forthcoming Metro production, is one of the first women to use a roadaplane, the new scooter which some folks call an auto skate. Miss Howley has not got up the courage to operate the machine on Broadway, and does her speeding in that dear Staten island, where she has a little farm.

William Farnum, screen favorite of millions, is working now in a "straight" picture, his first of that type in many months. Child labor forms the theme of this new photoplay—one which proves still again the versatility and the polish of Farnum's acting.

DANDRUFF MAKES HAIR FALL OUT

25 cent bottle of "Danderine" keeps hair thick, strong, beautiful.

Girls! Try this! Doubles beauty of your hair in few moments.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

SIX-CENT MILK IS POSSIBILITY FOR THE CITY OF TOMAH

POSTAL WORKERS' WAGES

LONDON, Nov. 10.—At a mass meeting of postoffice workers at the London Pavilion theater, which protested against the action of the government in setting aside the Woodhouse award, the following resolution was unanimously passed: This meeting challenges the right of the government to set aside the arbitration award of Sir James Woodhouse without consultation with the national joint committee. It declares that the decision of the government to give an addition of 1s. 6d. as an alteration of the war bonus has no relevance to the demand for the wages increase of 5s., 4s. and 3s. a week made by the national joint committee, and that it is utterly inadequate to meet the increased cost of living. The meeting therefore calls upon the government to agree to arbitration.

A Lesson In This.

The advertising manager of one of America's largest mail-order houses recently told a large convention of advertising men that his company maintains "a bureau whose duty it is to read, each week, the weekly papers from all over the country. This bureau looks over these papers, and when it finds a town where the merchants are not advertising steadily in the local papers that town is immediately flooded with literature. It always brings results far in excess of the same effort put forth in territory where the local merchants constantly use their local papers."

YOU WANT PINK CHEEKS

Every woman wants pink cheeks. They mean not only beauty but health.

Then put the color in your cheeks, not on them. The glow of health is the red of healthy blood showing through translucent skin. It is impossible without rich, red blood.

When a girl's color fades and she looks debilitated, is short of breath, when her heart palpitates after every slight exertion and she has pains in various parts of the body she needs Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They are the remedy best suited to restore the blood, bring brightness to the eyes and put color in the cheeks and lips.

The only other treatment needed costs nothing. It is this. Give the patient plenty of sunlight, moderate exercise every day, not enough to cause fatigue, and use care in the diet because the food craved is often not the best for the condition.

Two books, "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat and How to Eat"—give just the information that every mother of a growing girl needs. They are free. Write for them today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or you can send fifty cents for a full-size package.

LARGE IMPORTATIONS OF ARGENTINE WHEAT REPORTED ARRANGED

City of Malacca.

Malacca is not a city of empty houses, for the Malays and poorer Chinese have joyfully moved into any accommodations they found vacant; but it is distinctly a city where many of the houses have seen their best days. There is an old cathedral built by the Portuguese overlooking the city. The roof has fallen in and tropic insects scuttle up and down the walls. By day it is given over to dust and ghosts, but when darkness settles over the waters, they light a great lantern in the old tower, and mariners steer their course by the mark of the ancient church. There are two explanations of Malacca's present sleepiness. The political economists say that the trade has gone to Penang and Singapore, but there are some who will tell you the story of St. Xavier. That good man, who worked doughtily for the faith in the Orient, tried to convert the people of Malacca, but they proved obdurate. At leaving the saint shook the dust of Malacca from his shoes, and it has never recovered since.

It's easy for a woman to understand why a man can't understand her.

"RESULTS PROVE THAT TANLAC HAS MERIT," SAYS J. C. HENDERSON

DEMAND GREAT FOR NEW REMEDY

Number of Local Citizens Talk of Unprecedented Tanlac Sale

FAMOUS MEDICINE BEING BOUGHT BY BEST PEOPLE

The phenomenal and unprecedented sale of Tanlac in this city and section of Wisconsin is astonishing all and is convincing even the most skeptical that it is a medicine of more than ordinary merit. While people here have heard much about Mr. Henderson, the Tanlac man, and while it was expected that a large business would be done, no one was prepared for the unprecedented sales of the past few weeks. To say that Tanlac is popular would be putting it mildly. La Crosse has never before seen such a demand for any medicine and it is safe to say that the great remedy will soon be as popular here as it is in other cities throughout the country.

Judging from the repeat sales and the expressions of satisfaction from those who have actually tested Tanlac, and who state that they have been benefited by the preparation, Tanlac must, therefore, possess unusual powers.

The people using Tanlac are among the best in La Crosse. They are people of standing and mature judgment whose statement regarding anything carries much weight. They are people who are able to judge impartially and who always buy the best of everything.

A large quantity of Tanlac has been sold within the past weeks and each day the demand for it is going greater. It is safe to say that the premier preparation is the biggest thing of its kind ever seen here.

ELATED WITH TANLAC RESULTS

SAYS G. W. PATTERSON, KNOWN FOR FIFTY MILES AROUND

G. W. Patterson, a member of the firm of Patterson Bros., well known as the leading veterinary surgeons all over this section of the country and for fifty miles around, has been in business for himself for twenty-six years. He has an office at 524 Cass Street, La Crosse.

Mr. Patterson is well and favorably known as a man of good habits and the farmers all have implicit confidence in his word, when he is called in a business capacity, as well as socially.

Mr. Patterson was telling Mr. Henderson, the Tanlac man, "I was badly infected several years ago with a disease I contracted from a mare I was treating. My limbs and hands were a mass of running sores. My case was given up as hopeless several times, but finally I managed to cure the sores but I was left with a blood disease which caused a continual itching that at times was almost unbearable.

"I am very busy with my work all the time and have to be continually on the go all over the country for miles around.

"I suffered with indigestion, dyspepsia and my food had no palatable taste. I was constipated and had that blood trouble I spoke about.

"I saw a copy of the Tanlac Times and was so impressed with all I read about Tanlac I telephoned from my office to the drug store where it was being sold. The druggist spoke so well of it I went right over and got myself a bottle at once, and I was so well pleased with that one bottle that I am after my second bottle today.

"I am so enthusiastic over Tanlac that I tell the farmers wherever I go all about what a wonder work it is.

"I obtained more benefit from one bottle of Tanlac than I have in three years from other medicines and I shall continue to take Tanlac until I am completely relieved as I know it will do, as one bottle has shown me so much improvement.

"I can digest my food better and it does not annoy me to eat as it did. The itching sensation has been greatly relieved. My constipation has disappeared entirely, my bowels move regularly."

DECLARES HIS FORMER STATEMENT HAS BEEN BORNE OUT IN EVERY WAY

"Merit in a preparation is necessary to bring results and Tanlac has attained success in La Crosse," said J. C. Henderson, the "Tanlac Man," representative of the Cooper Medicine Co., in a recent interview.

"A short time ago," continued Mr. Henderson, "I announced through these columns that Tanlac would meet with great popularity in La Crosse. I didn't ask that this statement be believed but simply offered it for what it was worth. Now I am glad to say that results have amply borne out my statement. Tanlac is not only the most popular thing of its kind ever introduced here but it promises to even outdo itself.

"The reason for this is because the medicine is really beneficial. It brings quick results. In all cases of stomach trouble—and show me the man or woman who is not suffering from this in some form, mild or aggravated—Tanlac acts quickly, thoroughly and strongly, yet without any disagreeable effects whatsoever.

"Stomach trouble manifests itself in many forms such as constipation, indigestion, costiveness, fermentation of food, sick headache, biliousness, loss of appetite, lack of energy, nervousness, bad complexion, morning nausea, dizzy spells, burning sensations in the pit of the stomach and in many other ways Tanlac overcomes these conditions at once.

"Tanlac is free from all harmful minerals, being purely vegetable in its composition. Its powerful tonic qualities make it wonderful in cases of kidney and liver trouble, rheumatism and all forms of catarrh. It cleans up the blood and removes all poisonous matter from the system in a mild but thorough manner."

TELLS WONDERFUL STORY OF RELIEF

WM. BOICE A LONG TIME RESIDENT TELLS A MOST REMARKABLE TANLAC CURE.

Wm. Boice is a familiar figure on our streets, or has been until he was so crippled up he was not able to be about, as in the last eight months and he has been missed by young and old.

Mr. Boice has seen eighty-three years roll by and has been beloved by all who came in contact with him. The children greet him on the street as Grandpa or Uncle and come to him with all their little childish troubles.

He has lived in La Crosse for the last forty years, off and on. The last time he has been here for twenty-six years. He now lives at 1021 S. 4th street, where his friends are always glad to run in to have a chat with him whenever they have a moment to spare.

Mr. Henderson, the Tanlac man, was one of the callers recently and Mr. Boice was telling him with much enthusiasm of what he thought of the new medicine just being introduced here in La Crosse. He said:

"I tell you, Mr. Henderson, I suffered agonies before I heard of your new remedy 'Tanlac'. My kidneys, liver and stomach bothered me more than I can tell. My feet and hands were all swollen and my joints were so stiff I could hardly move. I had suffered in this way for eight months.

"I have tried a great many medicines but without any relief whatever. I was in such a bad condition finally I could not move or help myself but had to have some one to wait on me all of the time.

"I had racking pains all through my body, pains in my kidneys. My color was as sallow as could be.

"I would get frightful dizzy spells and think I would surely fall over and would break out into a cold sweat. My stomach was so weak I could scarcely keep down my food and I ate more from a sense of duty because my food tasted disagreeable to me.

"My one recreation was the daily papers and in my reading I saw recently where Tanlac had relieved so many cases like mine. I was anxious to try it so I sent for a bottle.

"And since taking that one bottle I can cut my food at the table and help myself which as I said I had not been able to do in eight months. My food tastes good and my stomach is stronger and I have no difficulty in keeping down my food.

"The swelling has gone down in my feet and hands. Ten days ago I could not hold a pen in my hand while today I am able to sign my name indorsing Tanlac.

"My nervousness is gone and the cold sweats do not trouble me, in fact my whole body feels better and I shall continue to take Tanlac as I know it has benefitted me marvelously and will do still more for me.

"I want the people of La Crosse to know what one bottle of Tanlac has done for me and I advise any one suffering as I was to do as I have done 'Try Tanlac' and they too will receive the desired relief.

"I will be glad to tell any one that is interested more about Tanlac and what it did for me if they will call on me at my home."

FAITH IN TANLAC ALMOST UNBOUNDED

WELL KNOWN LA CROSSE MAN HAS GREAT FAITH IN REMEDY

It is what is truthfully said of Tanlac by our citizens that proves conclusively the efficiency of The National Tonic. Those benefited by Tanlac are always ready to say so.

L. B. Ledman living at 125 S. 3rd Street, a man of good moral habits, well known in the community, said to J. C. Henderson, the Tanlac man, while he was in Begun's Drug Store, recently, "I have not taken a full bottle of Tanlac yet, but I see what a wonderful medicine it is. I do not feel like that tired out man who started the bottle, but have been benefited in every way by two-thirds of a bottle.

"I was reading the Tanlac Times you gave me one day when I was in here and that at first got me interested in Tanlac, then I saw so much about it in the Daily papers with such honest, hearty indorsements, that I wanted some for myself.

"I have been subject to constipation for a long time. My stomach bothered me more or less in fact I have had stomach trouble for years; I thought it was just some one of those cases that nothing could relieve, but I see how mistaken I was because Tanlac began the work almost as soon as I started taking it. My appetite is better and my constipation is all gone. In fact, I feel better all over and I intend to keep on taking Tanlac until I am entirely relieved as I have great faith in the remedy, and I recommend it to all sufferers from Stomach trouble."

PLEASED AS WELL AS BENEFITED

FOUND SUCH RELIEF FROM ONLY ONE BOTTLE OF TANLAC IS SURPRISED

L. W. Pettigrowe, now living with his married daughter at 309 W. Fourth Street, La Crosse, a well and favorably known farmer for many years in Vernon county, now retired, was talking to Mr. Henderson, the Tanlac man, in C. A. Begun's drug store, the other day. He said:

"In all my life I never have found a medicine I thought could compare to this new remedy you are introducing, "Tanlac." I have used it with such satisfactory results and am so much pleased with my first bottle that I am back today to get another.

"Before I read of Tanlac in the local papers I was in pretty bad shape. I could not sleep at night, my rest was so broken on account of kidney trouble, I had to get up in the night, at least three or four times. I was very nervous and languid, the least exertion would tire me out.

"I have been wonderfully benefitted by the one bottle I have taken.

"My kidney trouble has improved and the nervousness is fast disappearing. My whole system feels better than it has for a long time. My rest is not so broken and I can walk downtown and around without feeling so worn out when I get home.

"I know I have been benefited by this one bottle I have taken so I am going to keep on taking it until I am entirely relieved as I feel Tanlac can do it."

HIGH COST REACHES CEMETERY

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 21.—(By Mail.)—The leasing of graves being, to a considerable extent, the custom in Buenos Aires, the municipal intendente has published a notice warning the relatives of tenants in the local cemeteries that rents are due and that those who fail to secure renewals within thirty days will be evicted.

The intendente adds that victims of the evictions will be deposited in the charnel house, or, less elegantly expressed, the general boneyard.

The thirty days is now about up. A good deal of the rent has been paid but there is also a good sized list of delinquents. Their ejection from their graves is expected to begin shortly.

Von Bluecher.

Gebhart von Bluecher was born in 1742 at Bostock, Prussia. At the age of fourteen he entered the Swedish army and four years later was captured by the Prussians in the Pomeranian campaign. His captors urged him to enter their service and he received a lieutenancy. Bluecher first came into notice in the later battles of the Seven Years' war, under Frederick the Great. His coarse life of many excesses plunged him into disfavor, so he retired into private life. However, after 15 years of retirement he again entered the service on the death of the king and organized the Prussian army. His influence was more from his daring than brains, as he relied on others for strategy. After his participation at Waterloo he insisted on having Napoleon shot, but the logical Wellington prevented this. Bluecher was seventy when Waterloo was fought and died four years after the battle in 1819.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with litha, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids of urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

How To Get Rid of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness or Head Noises

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms can be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double Strength). This will not cost you more than 75c. Take this home and add to it ¾ pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. A decided improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing becomes easy, while the distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which are often overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are said to be directly caused by catarrh, therefore, there must be many people whose hearing can be restored by this simple home treatment.

LONDON WITHHOLDS ITS JUDGMENT ON AMERICAN ELECTION

All England Deeply Interested in Election But Hold Aloof from Mixing in the Problem

"REUTER ELECTS BOTH"

Associated Press Connection First Flashed Hughes Victory Then the Success of President Wilson

By ED L. KEEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Nov. 10.—London is in doubt. London is still withholding judgment on who won the American presidential election and is waiting anxiously for final official returns.

London thought it knew Wednesday morning when Reuter's (Associated Press connection) flashed unqualifiedly that Hughes had been elected. But Friday Reuter's flashed unqualifiedly that Wilson had been re-elected. So the Evening News, to be perfectly fair, reproduced both Reuter flashes, under the head: "Reuter Says Both Elected."

The Exchange Telegraph company getting United Press reports did not announce the election of Hughes.

When the "news" that Hughes had been elected was turned loose President Wilson drew a few hot editorial shots—one was "Spineless Idealist." Now that things are doubtful, editorial opinion is suspended. Crowds have flocked around the bulletin boards since Tuesday.

Before the election all England, papers, officials and plain citizens, were interested to an almost unbelievable degree, but held aloof. There seemed to be a gentleman's agreement not to take sides even in the domestic affair of the United States.

"It isn't our affair, we have troubles enough of our own without mixing in with America's problem," seemed expressive of the public state of mind.

SAYS STAND-PATS COST C. E. HUGHES THE PRESIDENCY

attendance at the luncheon under such circumstances.

In Same Hotel

In Los Angeles the following Sunday Hughes motored out to Long Beach—and it was not until he returned to the city that he was informed that he had been in the same hotel at the same time that Johnson was.

Hughes immediately dispatched an emissary to see Johnson and explain that he did not know the governor was present — but progressives throughout the state considered there was a slight to Johnson, knowing that Hughes' tour through the state was managed by Crocker and Keesling, Johnson's foes at heart, though in the same party with him. Hughes left California without seeing Johnson, whose engagements to speak for Hughes and his own senatorial candidacy, took him to other parts of the state.

Big Audiences

Throughout the state Hughes was greeted by enormous audiences. Probably the biggest meeting he had during his entire experience as a presidential campaigner was at San Diego, where there were at least 20,000 people assembled in front of the Music pavilion. He spoke mainly on Americanism, the tariff, the ship purchase bill, and industrial efficiency. That was before the Adamson law was enacted.

When Hughes left the state, Chester Rowell was outspoken in his criticism of the candidate's failure to protest against his "kidnapping" as well as against Hughes' omission of any word of thanks for work which progressives had done. One of Rowell's condemnatory phrases was that Hughes' speeches had been like feeding infant food to real progressives."

Later came returns from the senatorial primary showing an overwhelming plurality for Johnson. Hughes from Colorado wired him congratulations and thanks for his speeches. This was the only communication between the two men which found its way into print during the campaign.

Soldier Finds at TRIBUNE Office He Has Been Re-elected

Sergeant Berlie Moore, of the Third Regiment band, stepped into the TRIBUNE office Thursday afternoon, to find out for the first time that he had been re-elected county clerk of Vernon county. The stalwart, bronzed Viroquan was on his way home on a furlough from Camp Wilson obtained so he could officiate at the annual meeting of the county board.

"I'm pleased, of course," said Sergeant Moore as he glanced over the Viroqua dispatch that told of his election. "I was a good deal worried, especially during the primary campaign, because I had pretty strong opposition. I was thinking of getting a furlough then, but I know that if I did I couldn't get one for the annual meeting, so I decided to take a chance."

TWO ROADS TAKE ACTION TO TEST THE ADAMSON LAW

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Jacob M. Dickinson, receiver for the Chicago-Rock Island railroad, petitioned Judge George R. Carpenter in the federal court Friday, asking the court's advice as to whether the Adamson eight-hour law should be obeyed.

In the petition, Dickinson stated that he had been advised by counsel that the law was unconstitutional, and that the law deprives the defendant and other railroads of the right and liberty of contract without due process of law, and that the Adamson law is merely an experiment, "the purpose of which is to enable the congress and president to observe at the expense of the defendant and other railroads the effects of the experiment."

In the petition, Charles F. Clyne, district attorney of northern Illinois district, and E. C. Knotts, district attorney at Springfield, Ill., and the general chairman of all railroad committees were cited to be in court December 4 for arguments.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 10.—The Louisville & Nashville railroad filed suit Friday in the federal court to test the Adamson eight-hour law.

DEMOCRAT LEADS FOR GOVERNORSHIP IN WEST VIRGINIA

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 10.—John J. Cornwell, democrat, for governor, was leading Judge Ira Robinson, republican, by 1,838 votes, in returns from 1,578 out of 1,713 districts.

Hughes was leading Wilson by more than 3,000, unofficial. The democrats are claiming election of four out of six for congress.

MADISON PIONEER DEAD

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 10.—Machael Brahany, 71, one of the early citizens of Madison, died Thursday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry Demitz, in Grand Rapids, Wis. He had lived sixty-two years in Madison. The death of his wife six weeks ago crushed him. His oldest son, Thomas W. Brahany, is assistant private secretary to President Wilson.

"Non-Partisans" Cheer at Extra Wilson Elected

"Hip hip, HOORAY!"
"Hip hip, HOORAY!"
"Hip hip, HOORAY!"

Thus did the enthusiatic "city hall bunch" greet the TRIBUNE extra which Friday morning announced the certain re-election President Wilson. A group of perhaps a dozen, gathered in the comptroller's office, sent up such a cheer at the arrival of the paper that every office in the building was speedily emptied in the quest for explanation of the racket.

It will be noted that the "non-partisan" city hall bunch is chiefly democratic—in national politics.

HUGHES CAMPAIGN AMONG WOMEN ELECTED WILSON

So Declares the Head of the Chicago Women's Bureau in Post-mortem

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Mrs. George Bass, head of the women's bureau here this afternoon declared the women of the country re-elected President Wilson. Her statement follows:

"Ten and possibly eleven of the twelve suffrage states of the United States have voted to re-elect President Wilson.

"The principal factors which contribute to the result in the twelve suffrage states, with the exception of Illinois, were:

"First—The sending out to the voting states of the west the Hughes special, the so-called 'billionaire train.'

"Second—The slogan 'Wilson has kept us out of war,' used in derision and reproach by the Hughes campaigners proved really to be a great winning argument with the women of the voting states."

BARGES BREAK AWAY IN STORM

GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 10.—The U. Ten men are believed to be on the barges. The tow left Galveston for San Pedro Wednesday.

WILLCOX REFUSES TO CONCEDE THE DEFEAT OF HUGHES

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Chairman Willcox of the republican national committee at 12:16 issued the following statement:

"The result still depends upon the vote of a few close states.

"It must be borne in mind that the returns thus far announced are in most states unofficial and may be changed by the official count required by the laws of these states.

"Twice during the unofficial computation yesterday in California mistakes in addition were announced for that state, substantially changing figures previously given. It is common experience that the result of the count almost always varies from the returns first announced.

"Where the vote is as close as that reported in several states, it may well be that material changes will result from the official count. We owe it to the country to take all necessary steps to see that an exact and honest count of the votes is made.

"When the current seemed to be running against Mr. Wilson on Wednesday the democratic managers announced their intention to demand a recount in every close state.

"All we desire is to make sure that the vote be counted as cast."

And Still They Bet Third Day After Election is Over

Bets of five and ten to one and even fifteen to one on President Wilson were offered in La Crosse hotel lobbies and cigar stores as late as 9 o'clock on Friday morning. Several of them were snapped up by "cock-sure" Hughes supporters. When arguments made against the president's chances of winning were made later in the morning, even larger odds were offered, but few of these were taken.

While the fight between Wilson and Hughes in California raged on Thursday evening, C. A. Davis, St. Paul traveling salesman, offered $20 even that Wilson would be the victor. He was taken up by I. N. Perlstein of Milwaukee, another traveling man. H. J. Henderson, clerk at the Hotel Stoddard, who pushes a traveling salesman from Fourth and Main streets to Pettibone park and back in a wheelbarrow if Hughes does not win, is holding the stakes.

Some local bets, made on Mr. Hughes, are being paid, but bettors conceding Wilson's election are in the minority, and stakeholders are withholding bets. It is believed that the majority of bets will not be paid until the meeting of the electoral college in Washington.

VILLAGE BOARD DENIES REMOVAL OF BRADLEY WALL

Members of the village board of West Salem, through their attorneys, Baldwin and Bosshard, on Friday filed answer to William A. Bradley's suit for recovery of damages occuring when contractors employed by the village tore away a rear wall of a cement warehouse belonging to Bradley's property, although they go into details of the occurrance. The village maintained that Bradley's warehouse extended upon propertp belonging to the village.

SAY NORTH DAKOTA IS SOLIDLY WILSON

BISMARCK, N. D., Nov. 10.—With the concession of Republican State Chairman Lemke that Wilson carried this state, republican newspapers today expressed doubt if even a recount would transfer North Dakota to the Hughes column. Ot 1 o'clock, 1,953 precincts of 1,978 gave Wilson 54,031; Hughes, 52,843, or a Wilson lead of 1,188. Many republicans were talking demanding a recount.

WILSON PRESIDES AT CHRISTENING OF GRANDDAUGHTER

BY ROBERT J. BENDER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Nov. 10. "Grand Daddy" Wilson came here Friday afternoon to attend the christening of Baby Eleanor Sayre, Eleanor did not appear at all overwhelmed over the victory of her distinguished godfather. It is even whispered she went to sleep while her grandfather was kissing her how-do.

Everyone else here, however, made up for Eleanor's blase greeting. The little college town turned out its 3,000 population to greet the president. Williams college students joined in the demonstration. Williamstown realized that Williamstown and not some big metropolis had been chosen as the first to greet the political hero of the hour and it gave him a full-winged, straight-from-the-shoulder welcome.

The president motored directly to the Sayre home. The towns-people planned a big reception Friday night and the president was expected to make a speech from the porch of the Sayre cottage.

The christening was private. It was held in St. John's Episcopal church. Only members of the immediate family were present. The president found hundreds of congratulatory messages awaiting him here. While he romped with his grandchildren—Eleanor had deigned by this time to awaken—Mrs. Wilson and Miss Margaret Wilson read the messages.

IS SHE MRS. ROSS MISS ALICE BEACH OR MRS. A. W. DAILY

Because She Violated Divorce Decree Woman Would Have Court Annul Second Marriage

DOES IT AVOID DIVORCE?

Knotty Legal Point Is Put Up to the Court by the Petition of the Wife.

Is Mrs. James Ross really Mrs. James Ross, or is she
Mrs. Alvin W. Daily? or
Miss Alice Beach?

That is the question that Mrs. Daily-Ross or Miss Beach, as the case may prove to be, has put up to Circuit Judge E. C. Higbee in her second excursion into the troubled seas of matrimonial law. Mrs. Ross, or, as she prefers to be known, Miss Beach, desires to be released from the husbandship of James Ross, via the annulment route, but the desire entails strange possibilities.

The reason Mrs. Ross believes she may shuck her latest name is that she married the possessor of the cognomen seven months after her divorce from Mr. Daily. Now this was directly against the court's order given with her decree, that she should not remarry within a twelve-month. This submits Mrs. Ross—or Miss Beach—invalidates her marriage to Mr. Ross. Therefore, continues the reasoning of Mrs. Ross, she is not Mrs. Ross. She is Miss Alice Beach because when she was divorced from Mr. Daily the court gave her back her maiden name.

But here is the sticking point:

If Mrs. Ross, by marrying before the year was up, violated the court's order and married illegally, did she not also make void the decree of divorce? Is she not Mrs. Alvin Daily again, instead of Miss Alice Beach?

Mrs. Ross will not know the answer for some time to come. Her petition for annulment of the Ross marriage, which took place in Winona, January 3, 1910, was not filed in time to get on the calendar for the term beginning next Monday.

In the meantime lawyers are discussing the peculiar question with much interest. It is pointed out that in the famous Barnes-Nimocks-Robare case two years ago, Judge Higbee held that marriage within the year invalidated the divorce.

C. CHAPLIN AND AMATEURS ON THE SAME STRAND BILL

Amateur night, with Charlie Chaplin on the screen.

This is the rich bill of fare prepared by Manager McWilliams for the Strand fans Friday evening. He has enlisted a round half-dozen of the pick of the local entertainers to fill out the extra-reel program of motion pictures, and has made all arrangements for a crowded house.

The Charlie Chaplin picture is called "Police." It depicts the ubiquitous Charles in the role of a just-liberated convict, and has excruciatingly funny business as well as that quaint Chaplin note of pathos that makes the supreme comedian irresistible.

In addition there will be a five-part feature, called "Pay Dirt," a mining story featuring Henry King, and a one-reel comedy.

WHITE BLACKBIRDS LEAD THE PROGRAM

The Seven White Blackbirds, in "A Night in Dixieland," headlines the Saturday and Sunday vaudeville bill at the La Crosse theater, closely followed by the Three Melody Knaves, singers who have appeared in La Crosse before as the Three Burns Sisters.

The perfect Lady Hercules, presented by Gillis and company, also occupies an important place on the bill. Madeline Sack, violin virtuoso, and Kelly and Rowe, travesty singers and dancers, complete the bill. Pictures are also shown.

DOUBLE ERROR DEFEATS WILSON FOR 20 MINUTES RESTORES HIM TO RACE

McAleer Discovers Error and Deducts the Twice Counted 2,000 Votes From the Hughes Column

For twenty minutes late Thursday Woodrow Wilson was beaten for the presidency of the United States, and there was rejoicing in republican headquarters. Then somebody threw the machine into reverse, and Wilson was snatched from the rear and again headed toward the White house.

At 5:30 the following telegram was received:

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 9.—A mechanical defect in one of the adding machines in Registrar McAleer's office resulted in the loss of exactly 2,000 votes to Hughes in Los Angeles county returns, according to McAleer this afternoon.

Five minutes later came the following dispatch:

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 9.—Corrections on four big counties, figures from county auditors, put Hughes in lead by 646. Total now: Wilson, 170,624; Hughes, 171,270.

Hardly was the above off the wire when there clicked off the wire this message:

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 9.—The second intimation of election irregularities in California came late this afternoon, when a federal marshal and three deputies were reported on their way to investigate precinct counts in parts of Alameda county, where Hughes polled a large vote.

The departure of the officers followed a conference among Rudolph Spreckles, prominent democrat, and officials at the federal district attorney's office.

Hard on the heels of the above there followed this summary:

BY PERRY ARNOLD

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Six P. M.—A new Hughes swing was on at this hour tonight. It came suddenly and unexpectedly, increasing the republican candidate's lead in Minnesota and cutting President Wilson's lead in California to a scant 345 votes. The republican candidate was also runnig ahead in New Hmpshire on latest returns.

Regardless of whether Hughes or Wilson is elected, it now seems certain a recount will be demanded in all states in which the race is close.

Corrections made in four Minnesota counties put Hughes in the lead, and errors discovered made by a faulty adding machine in Los Angeles added 2,000 to Hughes' count in California.

The Wilson lead in California of 345 votes was on the returns from all but 151 precincts.

On the strength of the last returns from California, National Chairman Willcox again claimed the election of Hughes.

The sudden switch came after strong Hughes papers in different cities had conceded Wilson's election.

The Explanation

Came another brief intermission, and then:

EDITORS: Registrar McAleer announced that the two thousand votes which should have been credited to Hughes in Los Angeles county were credited to him in the last official returns made from that county. This return was included in the United Press tabulaton of 5,716 precincts. Thus Wilson's lead in 5,716 precincts still remains at 2,345. Lead coming.

U. P. SAN FRANCISCO.

In the Meantime

Meantime there were substantial Hughes gains in the regular count of belated precincts in California, reducing the earlier lead of Wilson to 2,345. In Minnesota, thus far, the Hughes gains made by the correction of alleged errors in the count stands.

And Then It Broke Loose

Following the above bulletin to "Editors", the California situation was discussed in the following dispatches:

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 9.—Although Registrar McAleer of Los Angeles county announced this afternoon that an error by a tabulator in that county had resulted in a situation that would add 2,000 votes to Hughes' total, President Wilson was leading in California at four o'clock by 2,345 votes, according to unofficial tabulations based on 5,716 precincts out of 5,867 in California.

Totals made by the United Press earlier in the afternoon on 5,716 precincts showed: Hughes, 457,127; Wilson, 459,472.

In these figures, Los Angeles county's vote was shown as follows: Twelve hundred and nine precincts: Hughes, 134,736; Wilson, 113,562. This indicated Hughes' lead in Los Angeles county was 21,174.

Total Is Correct

Announcement of the discovery of an adding machine error whereby Hughes' plurality would be increasd by 2,000 was not made until after the 1209 precincts were announced, and it was not made clear at that time whether the 2,000 votes were included in the Hughes' total for 1209 precincts.

Later, however, McAleer announced that the 2,000 had been added to Hughes' total and that they were included in the figures for 1,209 precincts. In the light of this announcement, it is clear that the total of 2345 as shown on the face of 5,716 precincts was correct.

Democrats to Ask Recount

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 9.—"We will demand a complete recount with reliable machines so that a repetition of the mistake discovered in Registrar McAleer's figures will be impossible. No faulty adding machines should have been used in this count."

The above statement was made tonight by Benjamin Groves, southern California democratic chairman, commenting on a tabulation error involving 2,000 votes in Los Angeles county.

A delegation of Los Angeles democrats headed by Benjamin Groves, democratic chairman for the southern California campaign committee, rushed to Registrar McAleer's office late this afternoon as the result of the sudden 2,000 jump in the Hughes' count, later explained as having been previously included.

McAleer attributed the jump to a mistake made by a defective adding machine.

Included in the delegation was United States District Attorney Schoonover, U. S. Marshal Walton and other United States officials.

Ballot Boxes Seized

OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 9.—A deputy federal marshal arrived from San Francisco late this afternoon and has taken charge of the Alameda boxes at the court house here. They will be guarded until after the official canvass is completed.

It is believed here that the action was taken at the instance of the democratic national committee. Hughes polled a big majority in Alameda county.

Mistake Also in New Hampshire

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 9.—With 25 of the 297 precincts still missing, the official report gives Hughes a lead of 131 over Wilson, 40,338 being record for Hughes and 40,207 for the president.

The report from Ward No. 2 in Keene, showed no votes for Wilson, but the democrats claim 126 were cast. The town clerk of Harrisville found this error and credited Wilson with 83 votes.

No recount has been asked by either party but that it will be, is considered certain.

REPUBLICAN RECOUNTS TO BE ASKED IN FOUR OF WESTERN STATES

Republican National Headquarters Declare They Will Take Steps to Assure "Honest, Proper Count;" Denies Big Campaign "Slush Fund"

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Chairman Willcox has retained former Attorney General Wickersham to file contests in all close states.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—"I believe there will be recounts in California, New Mexico, North Dakota and Minnesota," Republican National Chairman Willcox declared this afternoon, following a conference with Charles E. Hughes.

"We will safeguard our interests in those states," Willcox added.

Asked if he still believed Hughes had been elected, Willcox said he did. He said he had not discussed the question with Hughes, but from the latter's attitude judged that the candidate also still believed this. Willcox said he did not contemplate making any statement tonight and did not plan to see Hughes again.

George W. Wickersham, who was also present at the conference, had no statement to make. Previously Everett Colby had intimated several contests were planned.

Earlier Willcox had stated: "The bluster of democratic leaders will not affect our effort to see that an honest, proper count of votes is had.

"We have not called upon the attorney general of the United States, nor the United States district attorney nor other officers of the United States government to supervise the counting of the vote in any of the states. The voting machinery of any state is under the supervision of the authorities of the state and our representative in such states will take all needful and necessary steps to see that all precautions are taken. The honest count which we demanded should and will be requested by all right-thinking citizens of whatever party."

Chairman Willcox was asked to explain the stand of the republican party regarding the charge that a huge slush fund had been raised for the Hughes campaign and replied:

"Our campaign expenditures have been reported fully under the law. Anybody is welcome to investigate them all they want. It is for our opponents to say if they can do as

AUSTRALIAN GIVES VIVID DESCRIPTION OF "TANK" VOYAGES

(By United Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 26.—(By Mail.)—A young Australian soldier, wounded while serving as one of the crew in a "tank," has given the world the first retl story of what happens when this newest engine of war goes into action. His diary of a week's work in an armored juggernaut follows:

Monday—Out for the first time. Strange sensation. Bullets rained like hail on a galvanized roof. Suddenly gave a terrible lurch. Lookout said we were astride an enemy trench. "Give 'em hell," was the order. We did. The frightened Germans ran like rabbits but were shot down in bunches. Machine guns started vicious rattle on our "hide." Not the least impression. Moved on and caught another German detachment. Cut their ranks to ribbons. Prisoners very curious stared at us wide-eyed. First day's experience not pleasant. "Tank" sickness is as bad as sea sickness.

Tuesday—Off for another cruise. Peppering began at once. Thought the old tank was going to drown in the shower of bullets. Silly blighters thought they could rush the tank like a fort. We fired at them point blank. We spat at them venomously. The blessed old tub gave a lurch. I thought it was goodbye to earth. It was only some German dead and wounded we had skidded into. Rain of bullets sounded like hundreds of rivets being driven into the tank's hide. We got to like the regular rhythm of it. Heavier strumming on our keyboard. Machine gun at it. There was a tremendous thud along about this time. Whole outfit thought we were done for. Only some unwonted obstacles along an enemy parapet. Some Huns tried the rushing dodge. Their rushing days are over.

Wednesday—Early start. Roughest voyage yet. Waves of fire seemed to break over us. Party of Germans came to meet us outside the trenches. Thought it was the mayor and village notables coming to give us a warm welcome. Mistaken. They left fly with machine guns. Then they tried boarding tactics. We laughed. Tank reception party dispersed in cloud of smoke. Only remaining member fat old gentleman threw himself down before us with many signs of submission.

Thursday—Passed down village street of wrecked houses. Huns rushed out of cellars and dugouts. One blighter rushed at us with clubbed rifle. Made terrible swipe at tank. Hurt himself more than us. Had nice joy ride after a bevy of fleeing Germans. All fat men.

Friday—Early afloat. Usual shower of bullets. Got right across a trench. Enemy tried to run but couldn't. Threw up sponge. One cheeky chap said he didn't think it was fair to use such fighting machines. We asked him if he thought we ought to get the kaiser's permission to use the tanks. Didn't see the joke. Took about 200 prisoners. Killed and wounded as many more. Tired out.

Saturday—Out before breakfast. Terrible crash first thing. Thought we had encountered wandering world. Weathered storm. Rare sport. Enemy preparing for surprise attack. Our surprise came first. We waddled into their ambush. Never saw men so frightened. Only few chaps stayed behind. Went snorting after them wherever we could find them. Later strong detachments tried to make their way back. We lined up across road, gave them hot time. Every time they tried to rush we ripped their ranks to bits. They finally gave up.

Sunday — Frightening Germans continued. Ladled out death as you might vamp out music from a hurdy-gurdy. Fritz got fitz. No fight left in him. Prisoners scared to death. Some of them acted as though they believed we used our tanks for making sausages out of prisoners.

HUGHES CALM AS RETURNS ARE SLOW

BY CARL D. GROAT
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Governor Hughes isn't losing sleep or getting thin worrying over his chances for the presidency.

In fact he is about the most calm of all of those in the republican camp. This was evidenced Thursday when the republican nominee, who had gone to bed at 12:10 a. m. responded to an eight o'clock call—and then turned right around and took another hour's sleep.

Hughes is still entirely confident that the ultimate result will be his election. He planned another quiet day, with an automobile ride and no politics, except possibly talks with Chairman Willcox.

DRY CHICAGO IS GOAL OF LEAGUE

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Chicago's drive on booze began Friday. Believing a dry Chicago would be the greatest victory yet won for prohibition, the anti-saloon league began a campaign to banish the saloon at the 1918 election. On the heels of their expected victory here, the drys plan to work for a liquorless nation by 1920.

W. J. Bryan and "Billy" Sunday are enlisted in the big drive. Bryan will be here November 20, for a prohibition rally. Billy Sunday will come next fall for a big revival.

WOULD LEGALIZE FIRE BULLETS

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(By Mail.)—The use of "fire bullets" in machine guns is legitimate warfare.

This is the stand taken by the British authorities in protesting through the American embassy, to Berlin against the German threat to deal with two British airmen captured with the "fire bullets" in their possession.

The fire bullet, British authorities assert, is a German invention. The British military authorities adopted it after capturing some from the Germans months ago, they say. Just about the time the German military authorities announced they intended to court martial two British airmen captured in Belgium, a Zeppelin was brought down in England amply supplied with "fire bullets." In their negotiations through the American embassy the British authorities have given Germany to understand that the crew of the "fire bullet" Zeppelin are prisoners.

The "fire bullet" is a "marker" for machine gunners—one "fire bullet" being fixed in machine gun ammunition at long intervals to show the gunner where he is firing. It emits smoke and flame along its route.

WEDDING REVEALS WHYFORE OF SENORA CARRANZA'S VISIT

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 10.—Senorita Salinas, neice of First Chief Carranza was to be married here Thursday, and that, say folks who know, tells the story of the visit of Senora Venustiano Carranza to the United States two weeks ago. She came to buy a trousseau.

When she visited in San Antonio she was with Senora Alvaro Obregon, wife of Carranza's war minister. The pair were carefree and moved about at perfect ease. Senora Carranza found the movie shows a charm but spent most of her time buying, buying, buying.

She confessed too, that it wasn't all for her niece for Senora Carranza likes "pretties" and likes her daughters to have them. Senora Carranza's visit to the United States was the occasion for the spread of many rumors saying the first chief was to flee Mexico. She denied them all flatly.

REAL DANCE NOVELTY COMING

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Abas, Salome, likewise the sensuous Egyptian and the tantalizing, wriggling hula-hula maid, each of whom, it seems, took a lesson from Miss Hootchie-Kootchie—America is to have a new stage dance.

Methchorie or geometrical dancing is its label and Mme. Valentine de Saint Point is its exponent. She is now enroute to New York on the Monsenat from Barcelona, Spain. The dancing which she will introduce has a "cerebral quality," explained thus:

While music, painting and sculpture have changed in form and method becoming more "cerebral" instead of merely emotional, dancing has remained an art which appeals through the eye, to the sense alone. In the new geometrical dancing all of the elements which fill the house when Mary Garden dances Salome are retained and artistries are introduced giving the movements meanings.

The dances are staged with Mme. de Saint Point's own poems set to music by Debussey, Ravel and other composers. In some the garb is very light, in one, however, a coat of mail, with only slits for the eyes is worn.

NO PACKAGES TO GERMANY

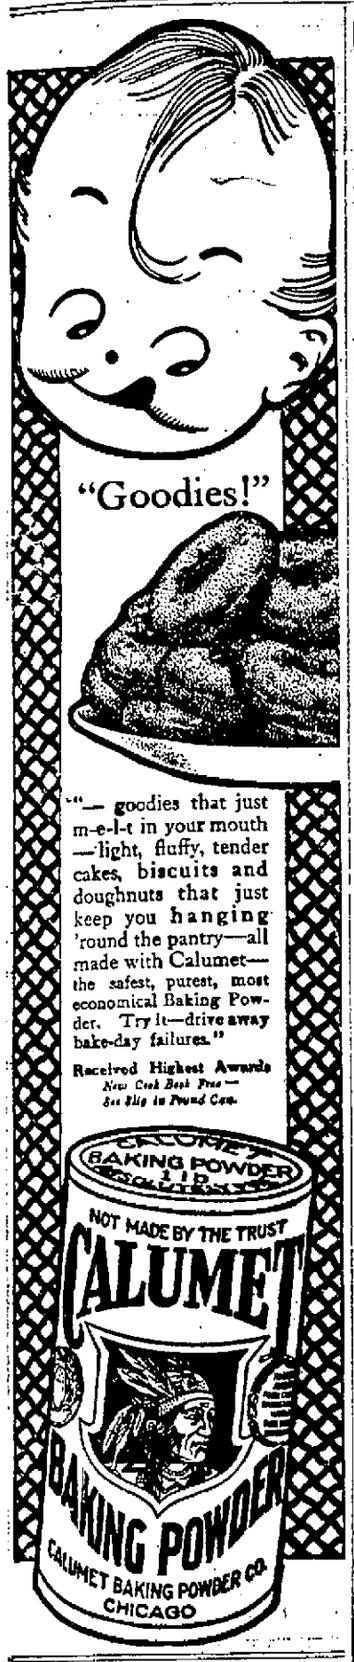
TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 10.—No packages for prisoners in Germany containing food may be shipped to Germany after Dec. 1, according to an edict of the British government just made public here. It is supposed that the food is being appropriated by the captors.

Genial Man Always Liked.

The genial man has a kind word or smile for all whom he meets. He is ever ready to hear with sympathy the tale of another's grief, to give such consolation and aid as he can. He does not feel his place in society so insecure that he is in danger of losing it by speaking to one outside of "his circle."

Evidence of Eyewitness.

A small boy recently attended the theater. In the play a false servant stole a valuable ring. The master in anger called the servants before him and attempted to gain a confession. "Who stole the ring?" he thundered. Then and there the little fellow, who had been deeply engrossed, called out: "The man with the red stockings."



OKLAHOMA SUPREME COURT

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 10.—The work of the Supreme Court of Oklahoma is still so far behind that there will be a problem before the coming legislature as to disposing of accumulated cases.

Self Development.

There are so many great things to live for that it's folly to be kept busy with trifles. Turn your energies toward self-development and the result will be increased power. With every increase will come enlarged vision. That in turn will make new demands on your ability and you will find yourself in an ever enlarging development. Your tastes will grow with attainment and you will learn to measure things by new standards. Then it is that you are growing in measure sufficiently large to help others. The better your life is the more your influence will be and the more it will count.

YOUNG WOMEN MAY AVOID PAIN

Need Only Trust to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, says Mrs. Kurtzweg.

Buffalo, N.Y.—"My daughter, whose picture is herewith, was much troubled with pains in her back and sides every month and they would sometimes be so bad that it would seem like acute inflammation of some organ. She read your advertisement in the newspapers and tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She praises it highly as she has been relieved of all these pains by its use. All mothers should know of this remedy, and all young girls who suffer should try it."—Mrs. MATILDA KURTZWEG, 522 High St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Young women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by this root and herb remedy.

If you know of any young woman who is sick and needs helpful advice, ask her to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Only women will receive her letter, and it will be held in strictest confidence.

PIONEER LOST IN PASSING OF AGED MRS. CLEVELAND

Early Settler Died in the Village of Trempealeau at the Advanced Age of Eighty-six

TREMPEALEAU, Wis.—(Special.)—One of Trempealeau's oldest citizens died Saturday at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. Rhodes. Mrs. Charles J. Cleveland, before her marriage Lydia Nable, daughter of Aaron Nable and his wife, Aucy Turneaure, was born at Castile Village, Alleghany County, N. Y., April 16, 1830, the second in a family of children.

When six years old the family moved to Pennsylvania and in 1841 emigrated by team to Illinois. They settled on a farm five miles north of Belvidere, where June 21, 1849, Lydia was married to Charles Josiah Cleveland. The young couple immediately went to the pinery on the Wisconsin river, locating in what is now Waushara county, but was then an Indian reservation.

There near the banks of the Pine river, their first son was born July 4, 1850. Later they moved to Black River and stopped for a while at Neilsville, where Mr. Cleveland built the first house after the city was plotted, and where Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland rendered efficient aid in the election which located the county seat of Clark county where it now is. In 1856 the family moved to North Bend where Mr. Cleveland rafted and ran lumber for Thomas Douglas. In 1858 the family came to Trempealeau which place has since been their home.

Mrs. Cleveland was the mother of seven children of whom six grew to maturity and married. Mr. Cleveland died in February, 1908, at the age of eighty-five. Mrs. Cleveland was a very plain speaking woman, always ready to express her opinion, despising littleness, meanness or affectation.

In her youth she became a member of the Baptist church, and always lived the life of a consistent Christian. She was a skillful nurse, and a ready comforter for the afflicted. In the last few years of her life she suffered greatly with a painful blindness, but was always patient and cheerful. When stricken with her last illness she made no complaint. To her oldest son, she said, "I have lived my life, I have raised my family, I have finished my work and now God is going to give me rest."

She was laid at rest Monday, Nov. 6, beside her husband in Trempealeau cemetery.

BELIEVE ZEPPELIN USE ENDANGERED BY SOMME OFFENSIVE

BY WILBUR S. FORREST
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The great Anglo-French offensive on the Somme in northern France today has had direct bearing on future Zeppelin raids on England.

This hint was given to the United Press by a British official in a position to know.

If the Anglo-French forces on the Somme drive a wider and deeper wedge into the German line, the entire line must eventually fall back to straighten itself. This would mean that the allied aerial bases in northern France would also move forward. The natural sequence is that German military and aviation bases both in Belgium and across the Rhine, become from a strategical and military point of view, more legitimate objectives for allies air squadrons. Hitherto, allied air forces have been able to make long distance raids, but not heavy ones.

The great Zeppelin hangars in Belgium, including those now under construction and those in Germany from which the present raiding Zeppelins operate, will become practically useless to Germany.

According to expert opinion here it is not illogical to believe that these hangars and their contents, under such conditions, would be a total loss unless the Germans move them to safer places. Safer places in this instance would mean far into the interior of Germany. Thus all present calculations concerning the Zeppelin radius of action raids on England would have to be made over again. Even the radius of the great super-Zeppelins would be seriously cut down and the smaller type of airship probably would become wholly useless so far as strafing England is concerned.

A recent British communique, detailing a raid by eighty aeroplanes carrying tons of high explosives gives a further hint of the force which the allies can put into use against Zeppelin lairs within a safe radius of a readjusted western front.

Prehistoric Man.

The life habits of prehistoric man, as well as his antiquity on earth, are known almost entirely from fossil remains of various sorts. The data, however, are very scanty and insufficient for strictly logical deductions. Tools and hunting weapons, bones of tropical fauna and remains of man are found in the gravel beds of western Europe. Apparently man antedates the glacial period as this tropical fauna there was previous to the ice age and because remains of glacial fauna, together with human remains, occur in later geological deposits. Thus, the antiquity of man becomes a question of the date of the ice age, and that occurred 60,000 years ago, at least. The implements of prehistoric man form a basis of a division of early industrial development into the stone age, the bronze age, and the iron age.

Hot Rocks Waste Away.

Erosion proceeds with considerable rapidity in the desert region of the southwest, notwithstanding the scarcity of continuously running water, for rock disintegration is accelerated by the great daily variations in temperature. The rocks are heated to 120 degrees F. or higher on the hot summer days and cool off rapidly at night to 70 degrees or less, a difference of 50 degrees or more and in spring or autumn, when the sun's heat is less, the night temperatures are relatively lower.—United States Geological Survey.

Each Helps the Other.

You cannot remain long in a man's presence without giving or receiving some influence. Commonly the exchange is mutual, each helps the other. That is as it should be. Men of worth should seek to mold the characters of those about them. It must be done by unconscious example. Precepts, however wise, are resented. Purposeful conduct unless skillfully lived is apt to alienate. No one wants to feel that he is the concern of your life. He will do much better when he reacts on the confidence you have placed in him. Let him feel that he acts on his own initiative and he will strive harder to do his best. Veil your influence and you will be able to do much toward molding the characters you touch.

SAYS CHILD IS SAVAGE

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—"Every child from two to sixteen is a savage becoming civilized," said R. Waite Joslyn, in a lecture before the Society of Evolutionists. "The impulse of every boy to dig caves, hunt, fish and fight is an inheritance from our savage ancestors. A child's fear of the dark is the remnant of the time when the dark places were caves filled with wild animals."

Joslyn said rational men existed 50,000 years ago.

PRESIDENT IS HELD NEW MEXICO VICTOR

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 10.—With 533 of 688 precincts in New Mexico reported the vote Friday stands: Wilson, 32,155; Hughes, 30,405, a Wilson lead of 1,750 and it is practically certain that the remaining precincts to be heard from will not reduce the president's plurality below 1,500 and that the electoral college of the state will not be split.

LOUISE GLAUM AND HART APPEAR IN PICTURE TOGETHER

Only second in importance to the appearance on the Majestic screen of William S. Hart, is the shadow of Louise Glaum, seen at the local theater recently in "The Wolf Woman." The famous Triangle screen figure are starring in the production "The Return of Draw Egan." The film will be the attraction at the Majestic until Saturday.

The scenes are staged in the village of "Red Dog"—the toughest of the tough—and to the lover of gunpowder Hart at his best, there is a surprise in store. Throughout the picture there runs a pretty love story. The theme of the story is the unconsciously reforming power of sweet femininity, demonstrated through the medium of a pretty young girl, played by Marjory Wilson, and a bold bandit who exchanged banditry for town marshalling.

Robert McKim, who heretofore has been seen in clever Triangle productions in the role of a dressed up villain, this time is the regular bandit of the plains.

The cast is all good; the local color is convincing, and the story of the bad man turned town marshall humanly appealing.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a 50-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compond, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application of two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

WILSON GREETED AS "NEXT PRESIDENT" ASBURY CELEBRATES

Big Crowd Greets President and Mrs. Wilson as They Leave Mayflower on Way to Williamstown

TUMULTY LEADS PARADE

Secretary to Wilson Gets Out Auto in Asbury Park and Soon Has Real String Celebrating Victory

By ROBERT J. BENDER
(United Press Staff Correspondent).

RHINECLIFF, N. Y., Nov. 10.—President Wilson was greeted as "the next president" when he came ashore from the yacht Mayflower Friday, enroute to Williamstown, Mass.

A big crowd greeted the president and Mrs. Wilson and cheered both. The president was looking fine and wore a happy smile as he responded to the greeting. He had been kept informed of California's vote count by wireless during the night.

The Mayflower made the journey up the Hudson by easy stages and arrived here early in the morning. The president and Mrs. Wilson came ashore shortly before ten o'clock and immediately boarded a special train for Williamstown, Mass.

Celebration at Asbury Park

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Nov. 10.—Asbury Park slept late Friday. The bottom and sides of election excitement had been kicked out, but it took election celebrators until an early hour in the day to complete the wreck.

By midnight everyone at the summer white house executive offices stopped fretting and led by Secretary Tumulty in a big white house automobile, started an impromptu parade of victory. Before it had gone two blocks more than 1,000 were in line, cheering, waving flags and burning the ubiquitous red fire. There were fifty automobiles behind Secretary Tumulty's car. About 12:15, seemingly from nowhere a fife and drum corps drummed and shrieked its way into the limelight and the front of the marchers. It was the last touch needed.

BUSHMAN-BAYNE REACH FILM APEX IN FILM CLASSIC

It is generally the greatest ambition of every real actor and actress to essay the roles of Romeo or Juliet at least once in their career, and Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne, the foremost stellar combination that ever appeared in the silent drama, are no exceptions to this rule.

Ever since Mr. Bushman and Miss Bayne first came into fame, about five years ago, their admirers in legion have deluged them with letters suggesting that they appear in "Romeo and Juliet."

It was not until a suitable scenario was found by the Metro-Quality forces that the matter was seriously considered. Then the brainiest and most expert men in the profession were called together, and after a series of conferences, the greatest presentation of a Shakespearian production of all time was outlined. While it is true the production in the realm of the silent drama is robbed of the speaking voice, still there are many other features substituted to offset this loss. All the players speak their lines, even if they are not heard, and in this respect it is different from any other feature ever made for the screen.

"Romeo and Juliet" will appear at the La Crosse theater for four days, beginning next Monday. The picture is one of the first of a long list of better pictures, which the La Crosse theater management will bring to this city under the new policy of securing the best feature movies.

No Synonym for English.

A fierce Scottish nationalist who lives among his English friends to a state of chronic protest pricked up his ears in the railway compartment on hearing the word "English." "There ye go again," he grumbled. The speaker apologized. "You don't know what I said, Mac, so I'll repeat it and revise it at the same time. The chief fault of the British is lack of self-assertion." "Mac" looked around, and when he saw everybody else was smiling condescended to see the joke himself, and smiled too. He even proceeded to make a handsome admission. "After all, neither Walter Scott nor Thomas Carlyle would have said he wrote British."—Manchester Guardian.

VORWAERTS SAYS HYPHEN VOTE IS DECIDING FACTOR

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—Realizing the bearing of the election in the United States on the European war, the report of Governor Hughes' election bulletined here by Reuter's brought out many pronounced opinions in the newspapers.

"The republican victory must be ascribed," says Vorwaerts, "first to a united party and second to the German and Irish-American tactics employed. Since 1861, there have been only two democratic presidents, Cleveland and Wilson, who were the only American presidents in that time to threaten America with a European war.

"Only England's backdown in the first instance, and Germany's in the second maintained peace.

"The election has proved that no other American statesman will ever dare to alienate the hyphen voters."

LES DARCY MAY MEET WINNER OF GIBBONS-DILLON GO

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 10.—After Mike Gibbons and Jack Dillon get through pummelling each other Friday night and after the newspapers have decided that one of them has triumphed over the other, it is just possible that some bright young man will come along and offer one of the pair a chance to go to Astralia and meet the Australian crack Les Darcy.

In the bout a recognized world's light heavyweight champion and a man who has as much right to claim the middleweight championship as any one will be getting together. Jack Dillon has successfully knocked all aspirations out of moschalleuges of his ability, and Gibbas has spent many years doing presely the same thing.

Gibbons is a legitimate middleweight, something that Dillon is and hasn't been for a number of years. Hence, the bout can be in no way twisted into a scrap for a middleweight title. However, Darcy is declaring himself a middleweight, but is taking on the light heavies as fast as they come. He announces with much show of bravery that he wants a crack at Dillon, so it makes little difference who walks away with the long end of the newspaper score Friday night.

Dillon trained down to 163 pounds in order to get the elusive Gibbons into the ring, and Gibbons is expected to be somewhere around 158.

GOULDIN DEFENDS SENDING OF TEAM ON DAY OF GAME

Produces Data to Show Teams Sent Away Day Before the Game Are as a Rule Lacking in Pep

"The team will leave for Madison Saturday because in our experience during the past five years we have never lost a game by leaving the same morning as the game and we have often lost by leaving Friday and staying over night in a hotel."

This was the statement given out by Layton Gouldin, faculty manager of athletics at the high school, answering criticism directed at the sending of the high school football team to Madison the same day of the game. He continued: "Every athletic team that La Crosse sent out that slept in a strange town went on the field a dead team the next day."

The TRIBUNE'S correspondent, who went to Eau Claire with the team recently, declared that Mr. Bell saw to it that every football player was in bed by 9 o'clock. But after the fellows got to bed Mr. Bell could do no more. They were not used to sleeping in strange beds or two in a bed. The result was that they did not get to sleep before 12 o'clock. In the morning they rose at 6 o'clock, a tired, pepless bunch. When that team went on the field they were so dead that even Reedsburg could have held them to two touchdowns.

Last year Madison came to La Crosse, a day and a half before the game. They stayed at the Stoddard hotel and every provision was made for their comfort. Coach Crispen of the capital city team stated after the game that the loss of the game and poor showing of their star end was due to the fact that the men could not sleep in strange beds.

Mr. Seiler, a product of the great Zuppke, probably the brainiest coach La Crosse has ever had, after trouncing Fort Atkinson by a large score lost up at Eau Claire because the La Crosse fellows were dead when they went on the field.

In 1910, the year Coach Wilce, now of Ohio, championship contenders in the Big Nine, was here, La Crosse had but a mediocre team. That team left here on Saturday morning for Madison. Madison was a favorite by big odds. Yet that La Crosse team went on the field with all the pep it ever showed and eliminated Madison from the race by a score of 15 to 0. It is on the success of that policy followed by a coach who has developed such men as Harley, and who has defeated the strong Wisconsin eleven, that Mr. Gouldin and Mr. Bell will send the team to Madison Saturday morning.

AUSTRALIANS EAGER TO SEE A MIX BETWEEN LES DARCY AND DILLON

By HAMILTON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Nov. 10—Since Les Darcy, the Australian middleweight phenom, defeated George Chip, knocking him cold in the ninth round, the Australian fighting public has been wildly clamoring for a bout between Darcy and Jack Dillon, the American light heavyweight.

The United Press' Australian correspondent declares in a message received Thursday that Darcy has completely run out of opponents worthy of his efforts in his home country and he wants to try his skill against the best America can send.

The same message brings the news that Darcy has gone into a military training camp to prepare himself for duty at the front, but states that American engagements allow him to take part in boxing contests.

Previous American engagements of Australians, with very few exceptions have proven quite unprofitable for the Australians, but this hardly would be the case in the event of Darcy paying this country a visit.

Almost the same thing has happened when the best of the Americans have traveled across the seas to meet the Australians. Eddie McGoorty and Jimmy Clabby, however, two grand fighters, have proved unable to stop the rush to the top by the fighting Darcy and Americans realize the same as the Australians, that in Darcy Australia has produced a most wonderful man, one who is likely to take a fall out of Dillon or Gibbon, if given an opportunity.

Snowy Baker, the Australian fight impressario, is trying hard to bring about a boxing meet where Darcy and Dillon or Gibbons, and several other good boxers will get to show their wares. If he succeeds the winner of the bout undoubtedly would have the right to call himself the world's champion.

Boxing is enjoying great popularity right now in Australia, in spite of the demands of military service. Every Monday night Snowy Baker declares, is "Martial Night" at the Sydney stadium, at the invitation of Baker, and thousands of soldiers present themselves at the bouts. The war would have little effect on a world's championship match.

HARVARD TIGER GAME IS CLASSIC IN EASTERN PLAY

BY HAMILTON
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—When Harvard and Princeton bow their backs and start for each other Saturday the three-cornered whirl for supremacy in the "big three' of the east will be on its three-legged way.

It will be the first tussle of the season amongst any of the three elevens which always are pointed to in arguments regarding the relative strength of the eastern teams.

Both teams have been rather weak on defense this year, but Harvard, through Percy Haughton's work, has come to the front in this department. Both are fairly strong on attack.

Last year Princeton was beaten, 10 to 6, in a remarkably hard fought game.

Yale will meet Brown and Cornell will meet Michigan in the other important games of the east.

PUPILS BECOME SAVERS

BELLEVILLE, Ill., Nov. 10.—Nearly half of the pupils of the public schools here have become depositors in the school savings banks, according to Superintendent Oscar F. Weber in a report made to the board of education. Of 2,548 pupils attending school, 1,061 have started a savings account. A total of $1,002.80 has been deposited.

LOYAL ROOTERS OF NORMAL LEAVE FOR RIVER FALLS

More Than Score Go North via Prescott as Rooting Body for the Blue and Gray

"Beat River Falls or Bust" was the indelible imprints upon the banners of many more than a score of loyal normal school football supporters who left on the Burlington at 6:40 Friday morning. Many more left for the north on Thursday. Amid the banners and flags of co-eds were borne innumerable musical instruments, drums and horns of every description. At Prescott was to be assembled the twelve piece band which made the trip.

Led by the band and strongly reforced by the enthusiastic megaphone squad, the normal cohorts planned an elaborate celebration at Prescott and a more vigorous manifestation of football sympathies at the scene of battle, River Falls.

Borne in the midst of the rallying normal students as they left this morning were Wheaton, Gensmann, Crider, McCormick, Dean and Tubias, substitutes who were to join the firsts at the Falls at noon.

Sputh took his first string men through a practice at St. Paul on Thursday, the last workout before the big game.

HUGHES OUTWARDLY CALM AS RETURNS INDICATE DEFEAT

Governor Seems to Lack Springiness of Step Evidenced When He Began His Record-smashing Tour

DEFEAT IS NOT CONCEDED

Hughes Early in Day Had Not Sent Message of Congratulations to President Wilson

BY CARL D. GROAT
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Charles Evans Hughes took latest returns Friday with complete outward calmness, despite the terrific strain since Tuesday. He slept late. At 9:30 he had not ordered breakfast sent to his private dining room at the Hotel Astor. When he appeared later, he was smiling and exchanged pleasantries in his old way with personal and political friends, who called.

The governor, however, plainly showed the effects of the conflicting emotions of the past four days. This and lack of sufficient sleep together with the most strenuous campaign ever made by a presidential candidate had slightly drawn his features and his step had not the swing in it that it had when he started out last July on his 34,000 mile campaign tour.

Early in the forenoon Hughes had sent no message of congratulation to President Wilson. This was taken in some quarters as indicating that he and Chairman Willcox together with one or two others, may delay their usual exchange until the official count is complete in all close states. Willcox and Hughes have not yet conceded defeat. Another factor in this connection is exactly what action the republican national committee intends taking in regard to proposed recounts.

Hughes attended the theater Thursday night with Mrs. Hughes and a party of friends, to see William Collier in "Nothing but the Truth." Mrs. Hughes apparently forgot all about the election in her interest in the show but she showed plainly the effects of the strain.

Governor and Mrs. Hughes walked the two or three blocks to and from the theater. Few recognized them on the streets, but they were accorded an explosive ovation in the building.

Mongrel Only German Occupant Of Fort Vaux As French Took Fort

BY HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES AT VERDUN, Nov. 10.—The only German occupant of the shell-scarred, battered, but still firm Fort Vaux, when the French triumphantly entered it was a nondescript dog and he is now being treated with all the honors of war—but out of German supplies. Such was their haste in abandoning the fort that the Germans left behind a million cartridges, three thousand meat rations, three thousand bottles of mineral water and large quantities of anti-tetanus serum and other drugs now unobtainable outside of Germany.

With their artillery in place, the Fort Vaux garrison now dominates the entire Woevre plains. New lines of German entrenchments are vaguely visible several kilometres off. They are in low marshy ground where it will be practically impossible to entrench firmly.

In the twelve hours I was in the fort, from six Wednesday morning until dusk, the Germans shelled it almost constantly, the big projectiles thudding down every moment with clock-like regularity. Some hit the roof, making the whole structure reverberate but without doing damage.

The first intimation to the French that Vaux had been abandoned came when the Paris wireless picked up a German semi-official story to the American press out of the air. The French had then almost entirely surrounded the fort and were shelling it with four hundred millimetre guns with a precision which would have made its continued tenancy by the Germans impossible.

With the news Diot and his company entered and succeeded, with but few exceptions in rendering useless the planted mines, with which the Germans had intended to blow up the fort after French occupation. The several that did explode went off prematurely and did only a superficial damage.

One of the prizes of the French was the record book of the German commandant, containing plans for the reorganization of the fort and data on the killed and wounded in the recent fighting. The new figures lead the French to estimate the total German losses at Verdun at 700,000.

Heard Hughes Elected

At noon Wednesday the garrison heard that Hughes had been elected. The word came by wireless to General Mangin.

But the dog. As I left, he was in the hands of two "poilus." They were feeding him as he probably had not been fed in weeks. His tail was wagging.

In another day or two he is expected to enlist under the tri-color.

WINNER'S RIDE IS POSTPONED

Emil Hagen will not give Joseph Beranek a wheelbarrow ride from St. Paul and Caledonia streets to Fourth and Main streets until a week from Sunday. The event was postponed because of the funeral of Frank Groeschner, motorcycle officer, who was killed Wednesday. Hagen chose Hughes in an election bet.

Stage Music.

Orchestras, theater and otherwise, have some responsibility on their shoulders in the way of improving the musical taste of a community. Instead of the simple music that elevates the hearer's taste, we have ragtime incessant with all its tortuous and tempestuous conglomerations. It is high time we were getting something else, something that ministers to the culture and refinement of an audience. There is too much noise and slam-bang in the music we have. It is enough to set one's teeth on edge. A little fine music goes a good deal farther than such a conglomeration of sawing, pounding, blowing and beating. Actually the audiences don't want half as much as they are getting. Because a person can play by note is no sign he is a musician; he may do that all right and be a boor in taste. People prefer melodies and quiet music to rattle-de-bang music that confronts them on public occasions.

NEWS SERVICE NEED OF SOUTH AMERICA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Many American citizens in Venezuela some months ago received the shock of their lives. They read the news that the late Booker T. Washington was leading a negro rebellion against the United States government—that he was even then passing through Richmond, Va., enroute to Washington, at the head of an army of 30,000 men.

Americans, after the first shock, recollected the quality of the United states "news" received in Venezuela and dismissed the story with a smile. In the same manner they disposed of the report, a week after the Chicago conventions, that both had nominated a man named J. M. McGurk for president.

Preston McGoodwin, United States minister to Venezuela, returning to his post after a vacation here related the incidents in discussing steps necessary to better the understanding between this country and the Latin-American nations.

"News facilities must be improved," he said. "News is the big thing that is going to bring the two continents together for proper political and commercial relations.

"News of the passage of the Adamson eight-hour law and the prevention of the great railway strike had not reached Venezuela September 4, when I left there, and exporters fearful of having their products tied up in American ports, were not shipping their goods.

"The step taken by the United Press in establishing a real exchange of news between North and South America is one that should earn the congratulation of thinking people in every country in this hemisphere. We need to know about South America as badly as South Americans need to know about us. The average American has got his views of South America from novels, the movies and tales of comic opera revolution.

"He knows little of her vast commercial and agricultural possibilities. He knows nothing of the people themselves.

"All this ignorance can be broken down by good news service, bringing the life of each nation to the other's doorstep each day."

Coming Trials.

"Sir, I can support your daughter."
"Then, for your own peace of mind, young man, I hope you can do it with patience and resignation."

Calendar of Circuit Court Dwindles; County Goes Republican and District Attorneyship Fight Is Over

MAUSTON, Wis.—(Special.)—The adjourned session of circuit court was convened on Wednesday morning with Hon. Judge Jas. O'Neil on the bench. The calendar has dwindled somewhat, due to the fact that some cases have been settled or otherwise continued or dismissed. At present, a case of damage to a parcel of land from overflowage of the Wisconsin river because of the southern Wisconsin Power company dam at Kilbourn, is on trial. There are several other similar cases besides some minor ones which will all be taken care of at this term. Court will last, in all probabilities about ten days more.

Verse and Reverse

GOD SHUTS THE DOOR

God sometimes shuts the door and shuts us in,
That He may speak, perchance through grief or pain,
And softly, heart to heart, above the din,
May tell some precious thought to us again.

God sometimes shuts the door and keeps us still,
That so our feverish haste, our deep unrest,
Beneath His gentle touch may quiet, till
He whispers what our weary hearts love best.

God sometimes shuts the door, and though shut in—
If 'tis His hand, shall we not wait and see?
If worry lies without, and toil and sin,
God's world may wait within for you and me.

Flea Deadlier Than Tiger.

I read an official report when in Bombay that during the preceding year tigers had killed 1,000 persons in India. You shudder at the fearful ravages of this king of jungles. But at the very time I was in Bombay the fleas were killing 300 persons every week in that one city alone. Nevertheless, the anti-cruelty crank would almost jail you for daring to kill a poor, little, innocent flea. Those fleas were riding upon the backs of rodents and depositing the devastating bubonic plague in thousands of homes throughout India. The insignificant and negligible thing called a flea yesterday has today replaced the tiger and the deadly cobra as the vast menace to 300,000,000 souls in India.

Real Cause for Worry.

Parker—"What's wrong? You seem very worried." Streeter—"I am. I wrote two notes—one to my brother asking him if he took me for a fool, and the other to Miss Golding asking her if she would be mine. While I was out somebody telephoned. 'Yes,' and for the life of me I don't know which of 'em it was."

OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Salts, calomel, pills act on bowels like pepper acts in nostrils.

Enjoy life! Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy and constipated.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

MICHIGAN GOES DRY BY 70,000

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 10.—With returns practically complete indications Friday were that Michigan's dry majority will fall slightly under 70,000. Home rule apparently was beaten by between 90,000 and 100,000 votes. Hughes' plurality in the state was over 67,000.

California Stays Wet

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 10.—California will remain wet. Majorities against the prohibition measures indicated in Friday's tabulations show that prohibition amendment No. 1 lost by 110,000, and No. 2 by 40,000.

The prohibitionists declare their defeat is due to illegalities and they are preparing to make this the basis for a demand for a federal revision. San Francisco went wet by from 75,000 to 85,000.

BIG BEET SUGAR OUTPUT REPORTED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The greatest beet sugar output the United States has ever produced, was reported Friday by the bureau of crop estimates. The production amounts to 918,000 tons—an increase of 44,600 over last year's record output.

The United States during the last five years, has consumed approximately four million tons of sugar annually.

Can White Cats Hear?

The acuteness of the average cat's sense of hearing is proverbial, but it is a proverb that needs qualifying. For example, many white cats are said to be absolutely deaf, and though the idea may appear absurd at first sight, it is believed by some students that the color of a cat is associated with its sense of hearing. Among several imported Persians, or long-haired cats, from abroad, not one white one in the number has been able to hear the slightest sound. Of course there are white cats that can hear, but they have been as much to the short-haired pets of the fireside as to the aristocratic long-hair of the shows.

FRIDAY FISH DAY FOR CAT

— ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 10. —Coleman Flaherty's cat won't eat meat on Friday.

Flaherty is a good Catholic. The cat has been in the family several years. All cats would rather eat fish than meat. Flaherty's cat got in the habit of having fish, left from the Flaherty table, every seventh day. Now the feline expects it, and will have nothing else.

Muscular Activity.

The muscles of mastication play a large role in the athletics of the inactive. Though a man were toothless and chewed no more than does an infant, he cannot swallow a mouthful of water without muscular motion. The esophagus is a muscular tube. As food or drink is gulped down muscle waves worm their way along this channel to propel the pabulum into the gastric pouch farther on. The tongue is a muscle, loose at one end and tenaciously attached at the other. Whenever you breathe, speak, touch the roof of your mouth, or "stick your tongue out" at the doctor, muscular exercise is the reward. Chewing the food makes the masticatory muscles work. Roll of the eyeballs, a look heavenwards, or indeed, any motion of vision is to the eye and their outer and three interior muscles what swimming, tennis, dancing, skating, running and other sports are to the legs, arm and skeleton muscles. No man can be alive and be wholly without athletics.

SOCIETY

SILVER WEDDING

Mrs. John Selbo, 618 Farnam street, was hostess at a pretty afternoon coffee in honor of her twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. She was presented with a beautiful piece of silver and a large bouquet of chrysanthemums. A feature of the afternoon was a mock marriage, the principals in which were Mrs. Selbo as the bride, and Mrs. C. J. Johnson as the bridegroom, Mrs. B. Larson as the maid of honor and Mrs. Cornelius Selbo as the train bearer. The dining table was prettily decorated, the center of the table being occupied by a large wedding cake with silver trimmings. Those present were the Mesdames C. J. Johnson, B. Larson, H. Amsrud, O. H. Amsrud, O. Arneson, A. Spellum, A. Schopen, E. Erickson, A. Solie, S. Houer, W. Hatke, E. Engebretson, O. Johnson, P. Knudson, J. Johnson, G. Gustad, H. S. Lewiston, C. Johnson and C. Selbo, Miss Georgina Arneson and little Pearl Selbo, granddaughter of the hostess.

In the evening a party of friends came in to spend the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Selbo. Card playing was indulged in during the evening and refreshments were served. Those present were the Messrs. and Mesdames C. J. Johnson, B. Larson and A. Schopen, Mrs. A. Spellum, Mrs. O. Arneson, Mrs. C. Selbo, Miss Georgina Arneson and Messrs. Walter Selbo, Nydall, Gilbert, Reuben Selbo and Grant Johnson.

SURPRISE PARTY

Mrs. Steve Lambert was surprised at her home, 1029 Berlin street, Wednesday afternoon by a party of thirty-five friends. During the afternoon cards were played, prizes going to Mrs. R. Those present were the Misses Anna Shedesky, Mary Pinger, Mary Cuta, Agnes Blaha, Viola Chamberlain, Mary Konop, Kate Heinkel and Helen Kreutz, Mrs. Frank Maas and Mrs. Elizabeth Kreutz.

HOLD "CAN" SOCIAL AT CALEDONIA ST. CHURCH

Every person attending the regular monthly business and social meeting of the Epworth league of the Caledonia Street Methodist church, held at the church parlors Thursday evening, brought with him a can, full, not empty. These canned goods are to be placed on sale at the annual bazaar of the ladies of the church on December 11th, and constitute the contribution of the young people of the Epworth league.

Following the business session a social time was enjoyed and various games were played. A short musical program was given, including several violin selections by Lorna and Eldon Mulder, with piano accompaniment by Miss Ethel Mulder, and vocal solos by Miss Edith Eberhart. Refreshments were served, those entertaining being the Misses Mildred and Edith Eberhart and Eunice Brown and Lester Bond.

PRESBYTERIAN YOUNG PEOPLE HAVE BANQUET

Fifty young people were present at the "get-together" banquet given in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church by Christian Endeavor Thursday evening. George McLachlan was toastmaster, and first introduced President Harry Leithold, who outlined briefly the plans for the year's work. Miss Blanche Brock responded to the toast "Our Boys," and David McMillan spoke on "Our Girls". The report of the district convention of young people's societies, recently held at Tomah, was given by Miss Ruth McLachlin, who took for her subject "The Spirit of the Convention." A violin solo by Miss Beebe of Sparta, was a pleasant feature of the program. Miss Harriet J. McKinstry, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., who formerly located in Salt Lake city, gave a most interesting talk on the Mormons, relating many of her experiences in the city of the Latter Day Saints. The meeting broke up with the singing of "On Endeavor" in which all joined.

The tables and the dining room were attractively decorated in red and white, the colors of the organization, and the room was lighted with red candles in holders of white. Serving the banquet were the Misses Sarah McLachlan, Lilah Nutting, Lillian Weigel and Celesta Bigelow.

TEXAS ORANGES A SUCCESS

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 10.—Satsuma oranges of a fine quality, grown on Texas soil, are now on the market, says the News. The state department of agriculture has lately received a box of these oranges from the orchard of W. A. Stockwell of Alvin.

Nature Worked Backward.

The following is an interesting instance of the reversal of the ordinary course of nature that cost an English market gardener dear. Watercress is eagerly devoured by caddis worms, and caddis worms are a favorite food of trout. The trout, in turn, have a voracious enemy in herons, which ordinarily catch the fish after they have grown fat on caddis worms. Now, in the case referred to, it happened that a large grower of watercress had three-quarters of his crop ruined by the ravages of caddis worms. On investigation it was found that the trout which ordinarily protected the plants from the worms had been devoured ahead of time, so to speak, by a flock of hungry herons, which, in thus reversing the course of events, had brought disaster to the owner of the watercress.—Washington Star.

THE HASKIN LETTER

Solving The Dinner Problem

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 10.

IN BOSTON the hotels and restaurants feed not only the transients but the townspeople as well. It is a city of eating places; but they are not like the palaces of pleasure that line Broadway. True, many of them have good music, and a few of them have dancing, but nearly all of them specialize in good food at most reasonable prices. Table d'hote dinners and special orders are the foundation of their success, and it is immense. Despite the number of eating places all of them are crowded, and they are crowded largely with local people and those from nearby towns.

The successful handling of this public feeding question in Boston is the more significant because all over the country hotel men will tell you that they are losing money on their dining rooms. In order to offer a long a la carte menu, they are compelled to keep great quantities of food on hand, much of which spoils before it can be used. The diner has to pay for the wasted food as well as for what he eats. So the price of hotel living goes on upward, without giving any satisfaction either to the diner or the proprietor.

It was that way in Boston a few years ago. Many of the hotels were losing money. A certain very ancient and respectable hostelry, which we will call the Historical House was in an especially bad way. The Historical House was widely known and well, and there were many persons who would go to no other hotel. On the other hand, newer and more accessible places were slowly robbing it of business. Although it still made something on its rooms, its restaurant was operated at a heavy loss.

An advertising man on one of the local newspapers went to the proprietor of the Historical House, and made him a proposition. He said that if the proprietor would put up two hundred and fifty dollars he would guarantee to send to the Historical House all the people that it could feed. The proprietor hesitated a long time. He said two hundred and fifty dollars looked so big to him that it would break his heart to see it roll away. The newspaper man reminded him that the money was rolling away anyhow, and that he had promised the two hundred and fifty would roll back. At last the proprietor agreed to put up the fund, which was to be used in front page advertising at a dollar a line. The newspaperman attended to that, while the hotel keeper set about concocting the best table d'hote lunches and dinners that his establishment could possibly produce. He did not go half way in this matter. Into his fifty-cent luncheon and his dollar dinner he put the best food that money could buy, and all of it that a man could eat. There was no margin of profit. The hotel keeper calculated that he must first get the crowd, and then find a way to get the money.

The crowd came, and it was a steadily swelling crowd—one that never ceased to grow as long as there was room for more. The hotel man doubled his dining room space on the main floor, and converted some of his upstairs rooms into private dining rooms, and still he could not accommodate his patronage. Last Sunday night the door of his dining room was packed with people many of whom had been waiting half an hour to get a seat. Three orchestras and a large battery of singers entertain the guests. On holidays every seat is reserved days in advance. It is a poor day for business when this establishment does not feed twelve hundred people, and it sometimes feeds a thousand at one time.

Throughout this rush of prosperity, the proprietor has never made a cent of profit, according to his own statement, on one of his table d'hote meals, and anyone sampling the dinner will believe it. It is as complete as a dinner can be made, including relishes, soup, fish, entree, two meats, and several vegetables, a punch, a salad, two desserts, cheese, crackers, fruit and coffee. Every portion is liberal. It takes a strong man of generous capacity to go through with the menu; most people stop with a sigh about half way. Yet this very superabundance is a strong drawing card. The public gets what the public loves—a large undeniable money's worth.

If these meals are served at cost, where does the profit come in? Whisper it. On the drinks. Also to some extent, on the special orders. Conspicuously played up on the bill of fare are planked steak and fried chicken, which are served for two at a dollar and a half. These orders are very good, but there is a good percentage of profit on each one served. It is practically a case of those who can afford cocktails and planked steaks furnishing the general public with a good meal at cost—a sort of income tax restaurant.

Perhaps you would not think these extras would bring in enough money to make the business pay. It paid $43,000 net last year.

The proprietor of this hotel believes that his success is due largely to the fact that he is feeding the public more cheaply than it can feed itself at home while food prices are so high—and they are higher in New England than anywhere else in the country. He points out that for a man and his wife a meal at home will cost more than a dollar—the meat order alone will cost more than that very often. By buying and cooking food in immense quantities he can serve it more cheaply than could any establishment as small as a private family.

This remarkable rejuvenation of the Historical House naturally made all of the local hotel and restaurant keepers prick up their ears. Advertising in the newspapers became the established policy for them. The paper that held out a hand to the Historical House now carries on its front page every day the advertisements of from eight or twelve hotels and restaurants; and nearly all of these are doing a good business. The newspaper enjoys an income of about a hundred and fifty thousand dollars a year from this class of advertising. The people get better food for less money. The hotel keepers get more money. Everybody wins. It is an idea that worked.

Catarrh Hurts More Than Is Realized

Because Catarrh affects the nose and throat, causing sores in the nostrils, stoppage of air-passages and gathering in the throat, it has been common practice to treat Catarrh by lotions, washes and sprays applied to these parts. This mode of treatment by itself is entirely wrong. It cannot give permanent relief, and sometimes aggravates the trouble. Catarrh cannot be trifled with. If allowed to run on it will disease the bronchial tubes, settle on the lungs, the stomach,—indeed it is a very serious disease. Don't treat it locally. The fact that it causes headaches is proof that it is caused by impure and diseased blood. The one treatment that has proved most effective in the treatment of Catarrh is S. S. S., the greatest blood tonic known. It relieves the cause of Cattarrh by the process of renourishing the blood, renewing its strength and vigor, giving new life to the red blood corpuscles and stimulating the flow so that it has the vitality to throw off the poison and germs from the system. It is literally a blood bath. You quickly feel results. Headaches disappear, the gathering in the throat stops, the nostrils heal—before you realize it you are well. S. S. S. is a natural blood tonic and has proven effective in the treatment of all blood effections. Eczema, Tetter, Rash, Scrofula. Get S. S. S. at your druggist's. If you need special advice write the Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

COTTON IMPROVEMENT SOUGHT

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 10.—Clemson college, the state agricultural school will co-operate with the United States farm demonstration forces in the rearing of early maturing and quick fruiting cotton, as part of the campaign recently begun to prepare the farming interests of South Carolina against expected conditions. E. E. Hall, who has been farm demonstrator for Richland county, has been detached from that service and put in charge of the cotton rearing work.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 10.—Sam Korpas, a white man, was sentenced to two years in prison after confessing to burglarizing a house.

PROFESSORS IN GERMANY

LE HAVRE, France, Nov. 10.—News of M. Henri Uirenne and Paul Fredericq, professors at the University of Ghent, who were deported into Germany in March of this year, has been received by an inhabitant of Dordrecht, says the Dordrechtsche Courant. Professor Fredericq was transferred six months after his arrest from the officers' internment camp of Guttersloh to the Zum Boeren Hotel in Iena where he was joined by M. Pirenne, who had been interned with civilian prisoners at Holzminden. They are now free to go about the town as they choose, though they are kept under surveillance. It appears that the improvement in the treatment accorded to them is the result of the intervention of Dutch university professors who protested against the deportation and the arbitrary imprisonment without trial of two Belgian savants.

BILOXI CONSIDERS COMMISSION

BILOXI, Miss., Nov. 10.—The establishment of a commission form of government for Biloxi as provided for in the acts of the legislature of 1912 is the aim of a movement now under way here. Many towns in the state are now under the commission form and many local residents are looking for the change. If the movement comes to a head, a petition will be presented to the board of mayor and aldermen, signed by at least 10 per cent of the electors, asking the board to call a special election so that the people may decide as to whether the commission form is desired.

Killed by Poisons

All scientists agree that poisonous products in the blood are eliminated by the kidneys. The kidneys act as a kind of filter for these poisons. When the kidneys are changed or degenerated by disease or old age, then these poisons are retained in the body. If we wish to prevent old age coming on too soon, or if we want to increase our chances for a long life, Dr. Pierce of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., says that you should drink plenty of water daily between meals and with your meals to flush the kidneys. Then procure at your nearest drug store Anuric. This Anuric drives the uric acid out.

If we wish to keep our kidneys in the best condition a diet of milk and vegetables, with only a little meat once a day, is the most suitable. Drink plenty of pure water, take Anuric three time a day for a month. Anuric is many times more potent than lithia and dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.

A WISCONSIN MOTHER

Madison, Wis.—"About five years ago, before my little boy came, I got all run down and felt that I needed something to strengthen me. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it soon had me feeling fine. I did not suffer during my sickness and my baby was a strong, healthy child and always has been the picture of health, which I think I owe to this medicine. We also use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets and they have always given perfect satisfaction.

"I think there are no better medicines than Dr. Pierce's and I can highly recommend them to all. I have Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, which has been a wonderful help to me and my family."—MRS. G. W. COX, 112 N. Few Street.

HIXON GIFT NOT HALF USED SAYS RACINE EXPERT

Head of State Industrial Education Board Says the Opportunity Is Missed

WOULD GIVE IT 8-HOUR DAY

Manual Training Plant Now Works Three Hours Daily; Urges Manufacture of Real Machinery

Unification of the La Crosse industrial schools with the high school in the more efficient use of the Hixon annex.

Manufacture of useful power machines which will see real service in the factory, in place of equipment to adorn the walls.

These were two innovations in the city's industrial educational system thrown out as suggestion to the city at the meeting of the Manufacturers' and Jobbers' bureau of the Chamber of Commerce at its meeting in the W. B. U. auditorium Thursday evening by H. E. Miles, Racine, president of the state board of industrial education.

Mr. Miles was hearty in expression of his admiration for Frank Hixon's gift to the city, exclaiming that it was one of the two only gifts of that character and size in the United States. He was none the less sincere, however, in scoring the small use that is made of the excellent equipment that is at the city's disposal.

Used Too Little

"The equipment in your excellent building," said Mr. Miles, "is in use on the average of three hours per day for forty weeks in the year. The forge shop is in use but one and a half hours per day, the foundry about the same length of time, the wood working shop about half day while the drawing room and carpenter shop find a greater utility."

The trend of modern industrial education according to the state president, is to run the schools eight hours per day, five and a half days per week with Saturday afternoons off, and about fifty weeks in the year. While the average child cannot pore over the printed page for eight hours, he can and is doing work in the field of industry and the field of industrial education eight hours per day.

By running the schools at the city's disposal on the five or six hour day basis, as is being done in many cities, instead of working the equipment but two or three hours per day, and by not leaving the buildings idle during the summer months, the less fortunate boy who cannot afford to go to school for four years can obtain 2,200 hours of work in one year, twice that amount in two, or more than he would obtain should he attend high school for the four year period.

Could Double Up Plant

One hundred students are being provided for in the industrial continuation school here at the present time. These could be taken to the high school without interfering to any appreciable extent with the program there and another hundred or two statements of Mr. Miles. The secretary of the state industrial board has placed almost a thousand students in manual training establishments where teachers had exclaimed that not another person could possibly be housed.

After taking up the problem of accomodating more students, Mr. Miles passed to the field of what the pupils are doing and appealed to the business men and school authorities present in making these practical institutions more practical. He cited the cities of Racine and New Haven as examples. At present the students in the industrial school are absorbed in making wooden nail boxes and the like, while at the high school some of the highest grade of work is being turned out and demonstrated at the school, he said. On the other hand, the Racine boys who are no more efficient than local youths, turn out machines which not only they themselves use but which are sold to manufaturing plants throughout the country for good prices. The New Haven boys are even more productive. With no more training than the La Crosse boys receive in the high school, they produce power machines, drills and presses. Mr. Miles startled his audience by the statement that these youngsters in knee breeches bring home twenty-five dollars per week. The sixteen year old boy can go out, tell the manufacturer that he has had the actual training and his salary tells the tale. The lad of school age is working and competing with the man who has been working at the trade for years and with telling results. That is what ought to be accomplished here, according to Mr. Miles.

Urges Many Trades

The teaching of as many trades as could be accomodated was suggested. In many cities where tanneries and plants which find it difficult to secure capable men in their lines are established, oftentimes trades in those fields are taught by employes of the plant, with the example of the plant, its processes and its raw materials, and in a short time there is no more trouble securing men.

School Superintendent B. E. McCormick with J. B. Funke of the industrial education board and A. A. Hirshheimer of the school board agreed that the matter of action upon the suggestions of Mr. Miles would be taken up at a joint meeting in the near future, as the matter had been under consideration for some time, the members awaiting such an address with suggestions from one in authority.

Mr. Miles held that the girls of the city were being reasonably well cared for. In providing an ideal system of industrial education, however, it was suggested that a factory-like structure in the vicinity of the high school, costing $12,000 or $15,000, to co-operate with the Hixon annex in accomodating both the boys and girls, would be a consummation to be desired.

STOLEN AUTO IS RECOVERED HIDDEN ON INDIAN HILL

Police Believe That Two Unknown Young Men Who Took It May Be Professional Car Thieves

Two young men, whom the police believe may have been professional automobile thives connected with the well-organized gang which been working in the middle west for more than a year, stole a light automobile belonging to D. P. Butterfield, 330 Cass street, Thursday night. Except for the fact that their hiding place for the car, in the woods on Indian Hill, was discovered by a resident of that section, it is believed that by today the machine would have been far away from the city, and probably permanently lost to the owner.

Butterfield left the car, with the switch key removed, standing in front of the La Crosse theater. About 9:30 he reported to Central station that the car had disappeared.

Half an hour later Robert Losie, 714 Powell street, reported to the station that an automobile had been driven into the woods near his residence by two young men, who, when he accosted them, said they were out of gasoline and were going back to the city to get some. Losie waited for an hour, but when the pair had not reappeared, he called the police. The car was readily identified as Butterfield's. None of the robes and other articles in the car had been taken.

The police are attempting to trace the thieves, but have only a meager description.

Funeral services for the policeman will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 from the Groeschner residence, 1317 Kane street, it was announced, although the personnel of the pall-bearers and escort, with other details of the arrangements, has not been decided.

In the meantime, a coroner's jury, impaneled Thursday afternoon, is waiting to begin investigation to fix the responsibility for the tragic accident which caused Groeschner's death. The jury consists of B. H. Volz, L. E. Lavaque, Clinton W. Hunt, Henry Sturz, Martin Roth and G. W. Hall.

The six men viewed the body of the dead officer Thursday evening, and the inquest was then adjourned until Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, in the office of District Attorney Otto M. Schlabach. It is believed that a further adjournment will be taken on Saturday, until after Groeschner's body has been laid at rest.

Among the witnesses to be called will be Otto Betz, driver of the auto truck which struck the policeman, and several bystanders who saw the smashup.

SOCIALIST VOTE SLUMPS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 10.—The outstanding feature of the Oklahoma returns was the conceded slump in socialist strength.

The socialists did not elect a congressman, state official or apparently a member of the legislature.

The same leaders claimed official counts may show they elected three congressmen, thirty-five state legislators, the mayor of Minneapolis and several state candidates. They claimed to have cast 65,000 votes in New York state alone.

In Milwaukee they say they elected the district attorney, sheriff, two state senators and seven assemblymen.

REPUBLICANS WIN IN CLAYTON COUNTY

M'GREGOR, Iowa.—(Special.)—Though normally democratic with few exceptions, all republican nominees were elected in Clayton county. Hughes received a majority of 891 and Harding, republican nominee for governor, 1,592. Robert Quigley of McGregor, Clayton county's representative in the state senate for the last two terms, was defeated by Byron Newberry of Strawberry Point, republican, by a majority of 907. Mr. Newberry was in the senate for two terms prior to Mr. Quigley's incumbency. Mr. Quigley is a veteran of the civil war and was one of the first white children born in Clayton county, his father having operated the first sawmill in the county. For representative Mr. Becker, republican, defeated A. T. Albrecht by a majority of 1,592.

Bergemeyer of Elkader, democrat, who has been sheriff for three terms, was elected to succeed himself by a majority of 307; Martin Hagensick, democrat, was re-elected county clerk by a majority of 1,444; Vina Katchowsky, democrat, was re-elected recorder by 817. Miss Katchowsky has been recorder for the last two years and previous to that was deputy in the same office. She is opposed to equal suffrage and yet has the unique distinction of being elected to office on the losing ticket in a county which defeated equal suffrage last June by a vote of almost two to one.
